Mollet Wins Algerian Test

Senate Votes $100,000 Lid On Farm Prop Loans

Supports At 90% Parity For Small Farmer Rejected

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The Senate amended its election-year farm bill tonight to put a $100,000 limit on the annual price support loans the government could make to any individual farm or farmer.

The vote was 78-11.

There is no limit on price support loans in the present law, and these have exceeded one million dollars to single units in recent years. Proponents of the amendment said it was aimed at huge corporation-type wheat, cotton and corn farms, some of which they said have been collecting immense government checks.

The government price support programs work through loans. The farmer puts up his crop as collateral; and if the market price is lower than the support price on which the loan is based, he ordinarily lets the government take over the commodity.

Russell Urged $100,000 Lid

Sen. Williams (R-Del) was the sponsor of the amendment. He originally wanted a ceiling of $25,000, but it was raised to $100,000 at the urging of Sen. Russell (D-Ga).

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), a backer of the amendment, said there had been cotton loans in recent years as high as $1,269,000, wheat loans up to $354,000, and corn loans up to $190,000.

President Eisenhower had suggested in his farm message to Congress this year that it consider some kind of limitation on price support loans, but did not suggest a specific figure.

Other Proposals Defeated

Earlier the Senate refused to approve price supports at 90 per cent of parity for small farmers. It also rejected a $50,000 limit on price support loans.

Both proposals were contained in an amendment by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) which was defeated 56-36 on a rollcall vote. Thirty-two Democrats and four Republicans supported the amendment, while 41 Republicans and 15 Democrats opposed it.

Another amendment, offered by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) to limit payments under the proposed new soil bank to $25,000 in any one year for any farm in one state, was approved 84-9.

Kefauver Tests Strength Today In N.H. Primary

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 12 (AP) — Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) matches his personal popularity against the vote-drawing power of most of New Hampshire's leading Democrats tomorrow in the nation's first presidential primary of this campaign year.

The state's big Democratic political guns are lined up almost solidly for Kefauver's principal opponent, Adlai Stevenson. But the party's 1952 standard bearer has carefully avoided a head-on clash by refusing to take any personal part in the contest.

Although the test of strength between the two leading rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination will thus be indirect, the result is almost certain to have an important psychological impact on preconvention opinion.

Eisenhower Unopposed

The preference poll gives voters an opportunity to express a direct choice for their party's nomination. Its results, however, are not binding on the convention delegates.

Eisenhower is expected to win handily all 14 delegates to the GOP National Convention, despite some sentiment for Sen. Knowland (R-Calif).

Nixon Write-Ins Expected

Adding some interest to the otherwise dull Republican contest was a report that many GOP voters, stirred by growing speculation about Eisenhower's running mate, will write in an endorsement of Vice President Nixon or others in the vice presidential preference poll. No vice presidential aspirants are entered on either ballot.

Kefauver, who upset President Truman in the New Hampshire primary four years ago, obviously has much more at stake than Stevenson. Unless he posts another convincing victory, his prestige will suffer.

Arab Big Three Leaders Agree On Unified Plan

CAIRO, Egypt, March 12 (AP)—The Arab world's Big Three wound up their summit conference here today with a declaration that they have hammered out a unified plan against "dangers of Zionist aggression" and to preserve neutrality in the cold war.

Premier Abdel Gamal Nasser of Egypt, King Saud of Saudi Arabia, and President Shukri Kuwatly of Syria signed a four-page communique which summed up the results of their 10 secret meetings here in the last six days. It contained no hint of what details they had agreed on.

The signing took place in a room packed with newsmen and photographers as Israel and the Arabs exchanged charges that troop concentrations were being built up on each side of the border. Fresh shooting incidents took place.

A hint was seen that the three Arab chiefs had decided virtually to scrap the Arab League and to act independently of that 9-nation body in the future.

The communique said they had an all-inclusive plan for coordinating their policies in political, military, economic and cultural matters to achieve "mobilization of all forces and their direction toward the realization of the general good of the Arab Nation."

The unity of the Arab League has been shattered by Iraq's joining the Baghdad Pact with Britain, Iran, Turkey and Pakistan, an alliance concerned primarily with defense against the Communist bloc.

Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia so far have failed to lure Jordan and Lebanon into their separate chain of military treaties directed primarily against Israel. Yemen and the fledgling nations of Libya and Sudan are other members of the League, whose disunity has been advertised by the Big Three meeting outside its auspices.

Bodies Exhumed In Poison Case

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 12 (AP)—Investigators today dug up the bodies of another ex-husband and a daughter of a waitress who has already been charged with poisoning one former spouse.

Mrs. Rhonda Bell Martin, 49, was arrested at Mobile Friday on a charge of murdering her fourth husband, Claude Martin, who died in Montgomery five years ago. Martin's body, exhumed last week, showed traces of arsenic, said Asst. State Atty. Gen. MacDonald Gallion.

At the time of her arrest, Gallion also said authorities were investigating the deaths of seven other kinspeople of the 170-pound waitress.

He said the bodies of another ex-husband, George Garrett; five children and Mrs. Martin's mother also would be examined for evidence of arsenic poisoning. All seven suffered from the acute diarrhea and vomiting characteristic of arsenic poisoning.

Man With Grudge Fires Gun Blast At Judge, Misses

BAY CITY, Mich., March 12 (AP)—A shotgun blast fired by an assailant described by the FBI as a man with a grudge missed Federal Judge Frank A. Picard by inches today.

The pellets crashed over the judge's head and imbedded themselves in the stone wall back of the bench in the court room. The judge was presiding over a jury trial.

FBI agents identified the assailant as Stanley Wloch, 68, a mild looking, little, bespectacled, steamfitter. They said he had nursed a grudge against Judge Picard since 1947 when the judge dismissed for lack of jurisdiction Wloch's suit seeking to recover a farm from his divorced wife.

The agents quoted Wloch as saying he smuggled the shotgun under his overcoat into the Federal Building and without warning fired the gun from the double door entrance of the courtroom, about 60 feet from the judge's bench.

Job Safety Week

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — President Eisenhower today proclaimed May 13-19 National Job Safety Week.

Health Service Approves Delaying Third Polio Shot

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The Public Health Service today approved postponement of the third Salk antipolio vaccine shot as a means of stretching the supply.

The purpose would be to provide some protection with first and second injections to as many persons as possible by the start of the polio season this summer. The supply at this time does not cover demands by state health authorities and private physicians.

Spreading the available supply among more people by postponing the third shot is the second recent step aimed at giving protection to as many people as possible by summer.

Secretary of Welfare Folsom last week completed a series of separate conferences with presidents of the five manufacturing companies planning to supply vaccine this year.

He announced that some of the manufacturers were taking steps to increase their output by adding personnel and equipment.

However, officials say the supply still will be short for the foreseeable future.

The Health Service said in a statement that it regards the recommended course of three injections as ideal under ideal conditions, but that it would not object to postponement of the third shot where local conditions seem to indicate that would be wise. The recommended course is one dose of one cubic centimeter, followed in four to six weeks or as soon thereafter as possible by another dose of the same size. A third or booster shot is recommended at an interval of seven months or longer after the second injection.

Senate Word Battle Set Off By Manifesto

Morse Dares Dixie Segregation Forces To Offer Amendment

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — The racial integration issue set off an oratorical North-South conflict in Congress today, with the submission of the new Southern manifesto.

Most of the fireworks was in the Senate; the House met only briefly.

It says the Supreme Court decision of 1954 outlawing segregation in public schools was "a clear abuse of judicial power" and pledges the signers to do everything legally possible to overthrow it.

Sen. Morse (D-Ore) dared the Southerners to submit a constitutional amendment allowing race segregation practices, and predicted there would be few votes for it.

Morse also declared:

"A historic debate is going to have to take place in the not too distant future because this Congress is going to have to determine whether it is going to back up the Supreme Court."

Morse said some forces were trying to put themselves "above the Supreme Court of the United States and the Constitution."

Sen. Thurmond (D-SC), who led the states rights movement in 1948, told the Senate the South will "fight to the end" to reverse the court ruling.

"It would be submission to cowardice if we failed to use every lawful means to protect the rights of the people," he said.

"We are free morally and legally to oppose the decision. We must fight it to the end."

Morse, and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), said leaders on both sides should sit down and work out the problem in a calm way.

Humphrey said he was displeased to see the Supreme Court become "the subject of passion, antagonism and bitterness."

He asked that Congress back up the court's segregation decision as "the law of the land," and said that "by holding back, you impede what is inevitable."

"This is a perplexing, confusing and bewildering day in the Senate," he said.

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) said President Eisenhower should immediately call a White House conference of governors, senators and representatives from states "where the Supreme Court decision is being defied."

Youth, 20, Fatally Stabbed During Restaurant Fight

BALTIMORE, March 12 (AP)—An argument that apparently started over a restaurant customer's practice of leaning on a glass counter erupted early today into a fight that ended with:

1. Fatal stabbing of 20-year-old Ronald Rider of Baltimore.

2. Serious stabbing of George Chenowith, also 20 and also of Baltimore.

3. A heart attack for restaurant proprietor Vincent DiPietro, 46.

Di Pietro was taken to the police station for questioning after the fracas and collapsed there. He was taken to Union Memorial Hospital under guard.

Patrolman George Henneman Jr. said he heard screams coming from the restaurant on west 25th Street, and saw three men run out as he approached. He said he stopped Rider, who was bleeding badly, then placed him on the sidewalk to await an ambulance. Then he chased the two others and caught one, Chenowith, a short distance away. The third got away but police later picked up an 18-year-old youth at his home.

Rider died in an ambulance enroute to the hospital.

Police said the three youths ordered sandwiches in DiPietro's restaurant and apparently got into an argument with the proprietor when he objected to one of them leaning on a glass counter. Di Pietro warned the youth that the glass might break and he would have to pay $5, police said.

They said when the argument grew heated, DiPietro tried to eject the three, and they grappled with him.

Cyprus Paralyzed By General Strike

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 12 (AP)—Rebellious Cyprus was paralyzed by a spontaneous general strike today. With the exception of a few Turkish-owned shops, virtually all civilian activities in this British island colony were shut down.

Heavy patrols of British troops quickly put down all attempts at demonstrations in most parts of the island. A 17-year-old boy was shot and killed after throwing a bomb at military vehicles. A policeman was wounded by terrorists at Limassol.

Brief reports said there also was violence at Kyrenia, but details were lacking. Curfews were imposed on Limassol and Kyrenia, both coastal towns.

No individual or organization called the strike protesting the exile of Archbishop Makarios, leader of the island's Greek community. Stores, banks, public utilities, schools and military construction projects closed down. Even taxi drivers stopped work.

The archbishop, head of the Greek Orthodox Church on Cyprus and leader of the Enosis (union with Greece movement), sailed from Mombasa in Kenya today to the Seychelles Islands in the Indian Ocean. With him aboard a British frigate were the three other Enosis leaders deported with him last Friday.

In Athens, despite a Greek government ban on demonstrations, 47 persons, including 12 policemen, were injured when rowdy youngsters staged anti-British demonstrations. Many shops, business offices and department stores remained closed for fear of disorders.

Greece Asks U.S. Take Hand In Cyprus Crisis

ATHENS, Greece, March 12 (AP)—Greece today asked the United States to intervene in the bitter dispute over Cyprus.

Foreign Minister Spyros Theotokis announced the government is making vigorous representations to Washington over recent developments on the British eastern Mediterranean island colony.

Theotokis said Greece's ambassador to the United States, George Melas, has been ordered to call special attention to what Greece considers the serious dangers to the West created by the dispute.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the United States expects to make "certain recommendations" on the issue after "carefully studying all aspects."

8,000 Draftees Will Be Released Early

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — The Army is preparing orders for the early release of 8,000 draftees in June, one month after the draft call is scheduled to jump from 6,000 to 12,000.

These apparently conflicting decisions were reached for different reasons and neither the early release nor the higher draft quota will be continued for long.

The Army said that it decided many months ago to approve the release of some men, whose 24-month service as draftees normally would expire in July and August.

This decision was prompted by a study of manpower tables which showed that about 8,000 men who have not seen overseas service will be completing involuntary duty in the first two months of the new fiscal year, which starts July 1. These men would not be available for overseas duty, as the Army does not send men abroad who can not be expected to remain long enough to be useful.

Hubby Who Tried "Superman" Act Lands In Hospital

PATERSON, N.J., March 12 (AP)—Never, never try to stop your wife when she decides to take the car, as William Lamb, Brooklyn, N.Y., has learned.

Police said they had an argument here last night and Mrs. Lamb tried to drive off.

Lamb, 47, braced his body against the front of the car and tried to hold it back.

French Report 200 Rebels Slain

ALGIERS, Algeria, March 12 (AP)—French troops fighting rebel guerrillas claimed today to have killed 200 in weekend actions.

The operations were hampered by a growing wave of desertions among Algerian troops, once counted among France's toughest and most loyal fighters.

The latest mass desertion was reported from Rabat, Morocco, where 114 Algerian rifleman ran off from a unit being shipped to the NATO defense line in West Germany. French officers assume they will try to make their way back to their homeland to join the rebels, as other Algerian deserters have done.

In eastern Algeria, near the Tunisian border, the French said their troops wiped out 130 rebels in a sweep which followed the desertion Thursday of 75 Algerian riflemen. Some of the deserters, who had shot down eight of their former French comrades, were numbered among the rebel casualties.

Last night 2,000 rioting Algerians stoned French automobiles in the center of Algiers and manhandled the drivers.

Graduate School Desegregation Delay Ruled Out

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — The Supreme Court today ruled out any delay in admitting qualified Negroes to graduate schools of tax-supported universities.

The court in effect put graduate schools—such as those in law and medicine—in a separate category not subject to the transition period permitted in the tribunal's decision of last year ordering desegregation of public schools.

The unanimous action today specifically overturned a ruling of the Florida Supreme Court denying a Negro, Virgil D. Hawkins, admission to the law school of the all-white University of Florida.

Case Sent Back Once

The court noted that it once had sent the case back to the Florida Supreme Court for reconsideration in the light of its public school decision.

"In doing so," the court wrote, "we did not imply that decrees involving graduate study present the problems of public elementary and secondary schools."

The court added that its "all deliberate speed" edict for ending segregation in public schools "had no application to a case involving a Negro applying for admission to a state law school."

The court's brief, unsigned opinion said:

"Since this case involves the admission of a Negro to a graduate professional school, there is no reason for delay. He is entitled to prompt admission under the rules and regulations applicable to other qualified candidates."

Previous Rulings Cited

The court noted that in three rulings prior to its public schools decisions it had ordered the admission of Negroes to graduate schools "without discrimination because of color."

At the time of the decisions, however, they generally were interpreted as being under the historic "separate but equal" doctrine, which the court struck down in 1954 in holding segregation unconstitutional in public schools.

Miss Truman, Newsman Plan Quiet April Wedding

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Displaying proudly a modest diamond solitaire, Margaret Truman said today that she and newspaperman Clifton Daniel will be married some time in April.

Two hours after former President Harry S. Truman had announced his only child's engagement, Margaret and her fiance met the press here in a public room of the Hotel Carlyle, where she lives.

It will be another April wedding. The forthcoming wedding of Prince Ranier and Grace Kelly in Monaco was not mentioned, but it was apparently in the minds of both the principals and the press.

Miss Truman, 32, said decisively that hers will be "a small, quiet wedding with the two families" at Trinity Episcopal Church in Independence, Mo. The wedding date has not yet been fixed. There will be no "big, white, formal bridal gown," either, Miss Truman continued, because "I never have liked that kind of thing."

As for bridesmaids, that's dubious, too, "because most of my friends are married women. If there are any, they'll be matrons."

Daniel, 43, an assistant to the foreign news editor of the New York Times and a European correspondent since 1940, sat beside Miss Truman, answering a few questions. Son of a Zebulon, N.C., druggist, Daniel is a slender handsome, brown-eyed man of middle height with greying hair. He never was married before.

Margaret, smiling and excited, frequently conferred with and referred questions to Daniel. Together, sometimes with reluctance, they patched together the story of their romance which started in early November when they met at the home of George Backer, former New York Post publisher.

Emergency Powers Bill Is Approved

Legislation Gives Premier Authority To Crush Revolt

PARIS, March 12 (AP)—On four overwhelming confidence votes, the National Assembly tonight gave Premier Guy Mollet emergency powers to crush the nationalist revolt in Algeria.

The assemblymen voted 455-76 in backing the bill as a whole, after first approving its three main sections — economic, administrative and military.

The preliminary votes were 463-62 on the economic clauses, 451-72 on the administrative measures and 465-49 on the military powers, including the right to impose martial law.

The bill now goes to the Upper House where approval is virtually certain. Officials said they expect it to come up for debate there Wednesday or Thursday at the latest.

Poujade Forces Vote "No"

Even the Communists voted for the government headed by Socialist Mollet, and thereby caught more assemblymen by surprise.

Jacques Duclos, the Communist leader, proclaimed the party line.

"Communist and Socialist workers must strive together in common action," he declared

Abstention Expected

The Communists had been expected to abstain. The Communist spokesman, whose principal aim in domestic politics now is the formation of a "popular front" alliance with the Socialists, declared that support for Mollet was required "to bar the road against fascism."

Duclos said the Communists favor "permanent political, economic and cultural links" between France and Algeria, but he said France must "recognize the Algerian national fact." He did not explain exactly what he meant by that phrase, but it implied acknowledgement of the existence of an Algerian nationality, which most Frenchmen deny.

Westinghouse Talks Resume

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — The government tonight called Westinghouse strike negotiators back to Washington tomorrow. Both company and union representatives agreed to come.

The 148-day strike, the nation's longest major walkout in two decades, has idled some 50,000 workers in 40 plants of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. The labor organization representing most of the strikers is the International Union of Electrical Workers.

Director Joseph F. Finnegan of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service called tomorrow's meeting for 10 a.m.

An exchange of letters among the company, union and government officials apparently resulted in "clarification" of some issues remaining in dispute between the parties—enough to warrant calling the parties back for another peace session.

The correspondence concerned points involved in a package settlement plan offered March 8 by a three-man panel of the government's mediation service.

The company accepted the plan March 6 but the IUE withheld any yes-or-no answer, saying some matters required "clarification."

Million Dollar Note Search Is Redoubled

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—The Chase Manhattan Bank today doubled a posse seeking a missing million dollar U. S. Treasury note. Two hundred employes were thrown into the search.

A weekend search failed to turn up the note which has been missing since last Wednesday. It's not negotiable so the bank is assuming it has been misplaced rather than stolen. Anyway, it's insured.

Health Service Approves Delaying Third Polio Shot

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The Public Health Service today approved postponement of the third Salk antipolio vaccine shot as a means of stretching the supply.

The purpose would be to provide some protection with first and second injections to as many persons as possible by the start of the polio season this summer. The supply at this time does not cover demands by state health authorities and private physicians.

Spreading the available supply among more people by postponing the third shot is the second recent step aimed at giving protection to as many people as possible by summer.

Secretary of Welfare Folsom last week completed a series of separate conferences with presidents of the five manufacturing companies planning to supply vaccine this year.

He announced that some of the manufacturers were taking steps to increase their output by adding personnel and equipment.

However, officials say the supply still will be short for the foreseeable future.

The Health Service said in a statement that it regards the recommended course of three injections as ideal under ideal conditions, but that it would not object to postponement of the third shot where local conditions seem to indicate that would be wise. The recommended course is one dose of one cubic centimeter, followed in four to six weeks or as soon thereafter as possible by another dose of the same size. A third or booster shot is recommended at an interval of seven months or longer after the second injection.

Senate Word Battle Set Off By Manifesto

Morse Dares Dixie Segregation Forces To Offer Amendment

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — The racial integration issue set off an oratorical North-South conflict in Congress today, with the submission of the new Southern manifesto.

Most of the fireworks was in the Senate; the House met only briefly.

It says the Supreme Court decision of 1954 outlawing segregation in public schools was "a clear abuse of judicial power" and pledges the signers to do everything legally possible to overthrow it.

Sen. Morse (D-Ore) dared the Southerners to submit a constitutional amendment allowing race segregation practices, and predicted there would be few votes for it.

Morse also declared:

"A historic debate is going to have to take place in the not too distant future because this Congress is going to have to determine whether it is going to back up the Supreme Court."

Morse said some forces were trying to put themselves "above the Supreme Court of the United States and the Constitution."

Sen. Thurmond (D-SC), who led the states rights movement in 1948, told the Senate the South will "fight to the end" to reverse the court ruling.

"It would be submission to cowardice if we failed to use every lawful means to protect the rights of the people," he said.

"We are free morally and legally to oppose the decision. We must fight it to the end."

Morse, and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), said leaders on both sides should sit down and work out the problem in a calm way.

Humphrey said he was displeased to see the Supreme Court become "the subject of passion, antagonism and bitterness."

He asked that Congress back up the court's segregation decision as "the law of the land," and said that "by holding back, you impede what is inevitable."

"This is a perplexing, confusing and bewildering day in the Senate," he said.

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) said President Eisenhower should immediately call a White House conference of governors, senators and representatives from states "where the Supreme Court decision is being defied."

Youth, 20, Fatally Stabbed During Restaurant Fight

BALTIMORE, March 12 (AP)—An argument that apparently started over a restaurant customer's practice of leaning on a glass counter erupted early today into a fight that ended with:

1. Fatal stabbing of 20-year-old Ronald Rider of Baltimore.

2. Serious stabbing of George Chenowith, also 20 and also of Baltimore.

3. A heart attack for restaurant proprietor Vincent DiPietro, 46.

Di Pietro was taken to the police station for questioning after the fracas and collapsed there. He was taken to Union Memorial Hospital under guard.

Patrolman George Henneman Jr. said he heard screams coming from the restaurant on west 25th Street, and saw three men run out as he approached. He said he stopped Rider, who was bleeding badly, then placed him on the sidewalk to await an ambulance. Then he chased the two others and caught one, Chenowith, a short distance away. The third got away but police later picked up an 18-year-old youth at his home.

Rider died in an ambulance enroute to the hospital.

Police said the three youths ordered sandwiches in DiPietro's restaurant and apparently got into an argument with the proprietor when he objected to one of them leaning on a glass counter. Di Pietro warned the youth that the glass might break and he would have to pay $5, police said.

They said when the argument grew heated, DiPietro tried to eject the three, and they grappled with him.

Cyprus Paralyzed By General Strike

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 12 (AP)—Rebellious Cyprus was paralyzed by a spontaneous general strike today. With the exception of a few Turkish-owned shops, virtually all civilian activities in this British island colony were shut down.

Heavy patrols of British troops quickly put down all attempts at demonstrations in most parts of the island. A 17-year-old boy was shot and killed after throwing a bomb at military vehicles. A policeman was wounded by terrorists at Limassol.

Brief reports said there also was violence at Kyrenia, but details were lacking. Curfews were imposed on Limassol and Kyrenia, both coastal towns.

No individual or organization called the strike protesting the exile of Archbishop Makarios, leader of the island's Greek community. Stores, banks, public utilities, schools and military construction projects closed down. Even taxi drivers stopped work.

The archbishop, head of the Greek Orthodox Church on Cyprus and leader of the Enosis (union with Greece movement), sailed from Mombasa in Kenya today to the Seychelles Islands in the Indian Ocean. With him aboard a British frigate were the three other Enosis leaders deported with him last Friday.

In Athens, despite a Greek government ban on demonstrations, 47 persons, including 12 policemen, were injured when rowdy youngsters staged anti-British demonstrations. Many shops, business offices and department stores remained closed for fear of disorders.

Greece Asks U.S. Take Hand In Cyprus Crisis

ATHENS, Greece, March 12 (AP)—Greece today asked the United States to intervene in the bitter dispute over Cyprus.

Foreign Minister Spyros Theotokis announced the government is making vigorous representations to Washington over recent developments on the British eastern Mediterranean island colony.

Theotokis said Greece's ambassador to the United States, George Melas, has been ordered to call special attention to what Greece considers the serious dangers to the West created by the dispute.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the United States expects to make "certain recommendations" on the issue after "carefully studying all aspects."

8,000 Draftees Will Be Released Early

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — The Army is preparing orders for the early release of 8,000 draftees in June, one month after the draft call is scheduled to jump from 6,000 to 12,000.

These apparently conflicting decisions were reached for different reasons and neither the early release nor the higher draft quota will be continued for long.

The Army said that it decided many months ago to approve the release of some men, whose 24-month service as draftees normally would expire in July and August.

This decision was prompted by a study of manpower tables which showed that about 8,000 men who have not seen overseas service will be completing involuntary duty in the first two months of the new fiscal year, which starts July 1. These men would not be available for overseas duty, as the Army does not send men abroad who can not be expected to remain long enough to be useful.

Hubby Who Tried "Superman" Act Lands In Hospital

PATERSON, N.J., March 12 (AP)—Never, never try to stop your wife when she decides to take the car, as William Lamb, Brooklyn, N.Y., has learned.

Police said they had an argument here last night and Mrs. Lamb tried to drive off.

Lamb, 47, braced his body against the front of the car and tried to hold it back.

French Report 200 Rebels Slain

ALGIERS, Algeria, March 12 (AP)—French troops fighting rebel guerrillas claimed today to have killed 200 in weekend actions.

The operations were hampered by a growing wave of desertions among Algerian troops, once counted among France's toughest and most loyal fighters.

The latest mass desertion was reported from Rabat, Morocco, where 114 Algerian rifleman ran off from a unit being shipped to the NATO defense line in West Germany. French officers assume they will try to make their way back to their homeland to join the rebels, as other Algerian deserters have done.

In eastern Algeria, near the Tunisian border, the French said their troops wiped out 130 rebels in a sweep which followed the desertion Thursday of 75 Algerian riflemen. Some of the deserters, who had shot down eight of their former French comrades, were numbered among the rebel casualties.

Last night 2,000 rioting Algerians stoned French automobiles in the center of Algiers and manhandled the drivers.

Graduate School Desegregation Delay Ruled Out

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — The Supreme Court today ruled out any delay in admitting qualified Negroes to graduate schools of tax-supported universities.

The court in effect put graduate schools—such as those in law and medicine—in a separate category not subject to the transition period permitted in the tribunal's decision of last year ordering desegregation of public schools.

The unanimous action today specifically overturned a ruling of the Florida Supreme Court denying a Negro, Virgil D. Hawkins, admission to the law school of the all-white University of Florida.

Case Sent Back Once

The court noted that it once had sent the case back to the Florida Supreme Court for reconsideration in the light of its public school decision.

"In doing so," the court wrote, "we did not imply that decrees involving graduate study present the problems of public elementary and secondary schools."

The court added that its "all deliberate speed" edict for ending segregation in public schools "had no application to a case involving a Negro applying for admission to a state law school."

The court's brief, unsigned opinion said:

"Since this case involves the admission of a Negro to a graduate professional school, there is no reason for delay. He is entitled to prompt admission under the rules and regulations applicable to other qualified candidates."

Previous Rulings Cited

The court noted that in three rulings prior to its public schools decisions it had ordered the admission of Negroes to graduate schools "without discrimination because of color."

At the time of the decisions, however, they generally were interpreted as being under the historic "separate but equal" doctrine, which the court struck down in 1954 in holding segregation unconstitutional in public schools.

Surprise Checks Urged

JERUSALEM, March 12 (AP)—The chief Palestine truce-keeper today suggested U.N. observers should make surprise visits in border areas to investigate charges of troop massing.

Miss Truman, Newsman Plan Quiet April Wedding

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Displaying proudly a modest diamond solitaire, Margaret Truman said today that she and newspaperman Clifton Daniel will be married some time in April.

Two hours after former President Harry S. Truman had announced his only child's engagement, Margaret and her fiance met the press here in a public room of the Hotel Carlyle, where she lives.

It will be another April wedding. The forthcoming wedding of Prince Ranier and Grace Kelly in Monaco was not mentioned, but it was apparently in the minds of both the principals and the press.

Miss Truman, 32, said decisively that hers will be "a small, quiet wedding with the two families" at Trinity Episcopal Church in Independence, Mo. The wedding date has not yet been fixed. There will be no "big, white, formal bridal gown," either, Miss Truman continued, because "I never have liked that kind of thing."

As for bridesmaids, that's dubious, too, "because most of my friends are married women. If there are any, they'll be matrons."

Daniel, 43, an assistant to the foreign news editor of the New York Times and a European correspondent since 1940, sat beside Miss Truman, answering a few questions. Son of a Zebulon, N.C., druggist, Daniel is a slender handsome, brown-eyed man of middle height with greying hair. He never was married before.

Margaret, smiling and excited, frequently conferred with and referred questions to Daniel. Together, sometimes with reluctance, they patched together the story of their romance which started in early November when they met at the home of George Backer, former New York Post publisher.

Emergency Powers Bill Is Approved

Legislation Gives Premier Authority To Crush Revolt

PARIS, March 12 (AP)—On four overwhelming confidence votes, the National Assembly tonight gave Premier Guy Mollet emergency powers to crush the nationalist revolt in Algeria.

The assemblymen voted 455-76 in backing the bill as a whole, after first approving its three main sections — economic, administrative and military.

The preliminary votes were 463-62 on the economic clauses, 451-72 on the administrative measures and 465-49 on the military powers, including the right to impose martial law.

The bill now goes to the Upper House where approval is virtually certain. Officials said they expect it to come up for debate there Wednesday or Thursday at the latest.

Poujade Forces Vote "No"

Even the Communists voted for the government headed by Socialist Mollet, and thereby caught more assemblymen by surprise.

Jacques Duclos, the Communist leader, proclaimed the party line.

"Communist and Socialist workers must strive together in common action," he declared

Abstention Expected

The Communists had been expected to abstain. The Communist spokesman, whose principal aim in domestic politics now is the formation of a "popular front" alliance with the Socialists, declared that support for Mollet was required "to bar the road against fascism."

Duclos said the Communists favor "permanent political, economic and cultural links" between France and Algeria, but he said France must "recognize the Algerian national fact." He did not explain exactly what he meant by that phrase, but it implied acknowledgement of the existence of an Algerian nationality, which most Frenchmen deny.

Westinghouse Talks Resume

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — The government tonight called Westinghouse strike negotiators back to Washington tomorrow. Both company and union representatives agreed to come.

The 148-day strike, the nation's longest major walkout in two decades, has idled some 50,000 workers in 40 plants of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. The labor organization representing most of the strikers is the International Union of Electrical Workers.

Director Joseph F. Finnegan of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service called tomorrow's meeting for 10 a.m.

An exchange of letters among the company, union and government officials apparently resulted in "clarification" of some issues remaining in dispute between the parties—enough to warrant calling the parties back for another peace session.

The correspondence concerned points involved in a package settlement plan offered March 8 by a three-man panel of the government's mediation service.

The company accepted the plan March 6 but the IUE withheld any yes-or-no answer, saying some matters required "clarification."

Million Dollar Note Search Is Redoubled

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—The Chase Manhattan Bank today doubled a posse seeking a missing million dollar U. S. Treasury note. Two hundred employes were thrown into the search.

A weekend search failed to turn up the note which has been missing since last Wednesday. It's not negotiable so the bank is assuming it has been misplaced rather than stolen. Anyway, it's insured.

Ford Approved Dealers' Solicitation For Ike Fund

Probers Told No Pressure Used

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—Henry Ford II acknowledged at a Senate inquiry today that he okayed the solicitation of Ford dealers for Eisenhower campaign funds in 1952.

But he said "I don't like pressure of any kind on any matter," and that as far as he knew there were no "reprisals or recriminations" against dealers who refused to contribute.

Ford testified he approved plans of his personal assistant, Allen W. Merrell, to ask "strong Eisenhower supporters" among Ford dealers to solicit GOP political contributions from other Ford dealers.

In a statement drawn up for his appearance before a Senate Commerce subcommittee, Ford added that no heat was put on the dealers, no company funds were used in the solicitiation and no other company personnel were involved.

The head of the Ford Motor Co. described himself as a strong Eisenhower supporter and told the senators he plans to raise funds for the Republican campaign again this year.

Chairman Monroney (D-Okla) commented that it could be construed as "indirect coercion" to solicit money in such a manner in 1952, a Korean War year, when dealers were dependent on a share of the short supply of cars for their livelihood.

Sens. Potter (R-Mich) and Payne (R-Maine) contended, however, there was no evidence of any coercion against a Ford dealer. Both argued Monroney was proceeding solely on the basis of "hearsay" evidence.

Monroney said he could produce number of witnesses who have reported they were subject to "indirect coercion" during the solicitation.

Milton Ratner, a Chicago Ford dealer for 20 years until he lost his franchise in 1955, has told the subcommittee he was asked to contribute $1,000 to the Eisenhower campaign in 1952 and was informed "the office of Henry Ford" wanted $50,000 from the Chicago dealers.

Ratner said he understood that only he and one other dealer in the Chicago area refused to contribute.

Monroney said he particularly wants to question the dealer who asked Ratner for the $1,000. This man has not been identified in the hearings. The chairman said the dealer left on a cruise as soon as the "pressure" question was raised in the subcommittee's auto marketing investigation several weeks ago, and that all efforts to locate him have failed.

Parking Ban Forecast

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The day is coming when parking will be banned on all downtown Washington streets, say District of Columbia officials.

In testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee released today, Lewis R. Watson Jr., motor vehicle parking agency director, said his office is planning such a future development.

Watson asked for $19,000 to plan "fringe" parking lots on the outskirts of the city.

Mistrial Denied In Roads Case

ROCKVILLE, Md., March 12 (AP)—Defense attorneys in the roads conspiracy trial launched their case today with unsuccessful motions for a mistrial and a directed verdict.

The defendants, Washington real estate men Max Offenberg and Constas Gus Basiliko, are charged with conspiring to defraud the State Roads Commission by manipulating the value of land bought for highway projects.

In the opening statements by the defense in Montgomery County Circuit Court, Walter W. Dawson, attorney for Basiliko, indicated to the jury the defense would attempt to show that other employes of the roads commission—in addition to former engineer Ben DuPre—"also dealt in oil transactions."

DuPre testified under an immunity promise last week that he received compensation totaling about $8,900 for helping Basiliko and Offenberg to buy land needed for state road work. Among his compensation, he said, was an interest in an Indiana oil well.

Dawson said the defense would show that other roads commission employes stayed at Basiliko's hotel at North Beach in the course of their work there, and that in neither business nor social affairs did Basiliko ever ask them for information.

Bail-Jumping Red Guilty Of Contempt

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Communist leader Gilbert Green was found guilty of contempt of court today for having jumped bail five years ago when he was due to go to prison.

Green, 49, Illinois party chairman, had been sentenced to five years for conspiracy to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

He gave himself up only two weeks ago.

Judge Archie O. Dawson set March 26 for sentencing on the contempt charge. He is empowered to impose any sentence he sees fit.

120-Story Building In Planning Stage

ST. LOUIS, March 12 (AP)—A private development company today submitted a preliminary plan to the St. Louis County Council for a 120-story building—18 stories taller than the Empire State Building in New York.

The project, which would cost an estimated 200 million dollars, was proposed by the Andabon Investment and Development Co., headed by Ira Fleischman of St. Louis.

The proposed site in suburban Clayton now is a parking lot, just south of the courthouse. The legal limit for buildings in Clayton now is five stories.

Marland To Name U.S. Senator Soon

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 12 (AP)—Gov. William C. Marland said today he has several applicants for West Virginia's vacant U.S. Senate seat and will announce an appointment in the "not too distant future."

By way of explaining his delay in making an interim appointment, Marland said it "is not a matter to be taken lightly." The vacancy was created by the death on Feb. 28 of U.S. Sen. Harley M. Kilgore.

The interim appointee will serve until the seating of a successor to be elected in November for the balance of Kilgore's unexpired term, which runs to January, 1959.

The question of whether the November candidates shall be nominated in the May 8 primary election or in party conventions is now before the State Supreme Court.

At his weekly news conference, Marland said he is prepared to call a special session of the Legislature to clarify the legal dilemma if the court decision indicates a need for legislative action.

He added, however, that he would "have to discuss the problem first with the Legislature to see what it would be best to do."

Newsmen could not pin Marland down as to whether he is personally interested in the Senate seat. His only reply was, "The matter still is under consideration."

Planning Tempo Of Businessmen Seen Stepped Up

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—Government agencies today were reported about ready to release a new business expansion forecast indicating that businessmen are betting heavily on continued prosperity.

The new forecast, said officials familiar with it, will report that businessmen have recently stepped up their plans for outlays on new plant and equipment this year. The most recent previous report indicated this spending would be at an annual rate of about 31½ billion dollars for the first quarter.

An upward revision in the planning tempo would be welcome economic news. Downturns in two other major economic sectors—auto production and home building—have made plant and equipment spending a major sustaining factor.

Business expansion soaks up much of the same basic output that the auto and home building industries use—steel and other metals, plastics and rubber, cement, machine tools, lumber and the like. Consequently, an upturn in plans for new business plant and equipment would help take up slack and tend to halt the spread of unemployment.

It would also have the further effect of registering a vote of confidence in continued prosperity. This psychological impact could be important, since plant and equipment spending plans have in the past been highly sensitive to economic trends.

The Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission survey business expansion plans quarterly, by means of questionnaires sent to businessmen throughout the country. The annual spring forecast now in the works is reported to show "a marked uptrend" in plans for heavy new investments in productive plant and equipment throughout this year.

British Drive To Ban Gallows Progresses

LONDON, March 12 (AP) — The campaign to abolish the death penalty for murder in Britain moved forward a step today.

The House of Commons by a vote of 286-262 gave approval in principle to an anticapital punishment bill on second reading.

The bill still faces stiff tests through committee stages and the House of Lords before it can become law.

Strike Idles 3,000 Seaway Employes

MASSENA, N.Y., March 12 (AP)—About 3,000 St. Lawrence Seaway and power project employes were idle today and all U.S. construction work halted because of a strike of 1,400 operating engineers.

The strike stemmed from a wage dispute.

About 10 sets of pickets—three to four in a group—patrolled job sites along a 40-mile stretch of the St. Lawrence River, on this side of the U.S.-Canadian border.

Members of the International Union of Operating Engineers struck Saturday night. Other workers respected the picket lines today.

U. Of Ala. Student Expelled For Participation In Riot

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., March 12 (AP)—A White Citizens Council leader was expelled and 24 other students punished less severely today by the University of Alabama for participation in mob action against Autherine Lucy, the school's first Negro student.

The university board of trustees announced the expulsion of Leonard R. Wilson, 20, Selma, Ala., sophomore; suspension of four students and lesser and undisclosed punishment against 20 others.

Wilson also was accused of false charges against university officials.

Miss Lucy was the object of campus rioting from Feb. 3 through Feb. 6, when a mob threatened to kill her. The 26-year-old former school teacher, already a college graduate, was "permanently expelled" Feb. 29 for unproved charges that university authorities conspired in mob action against her.

She has asked the federal court to order her readmitted.

A statement read today by John A. Caddell, Decatur, Ala., member of the trustees executive committee, added that three other students whose cases were under investigation had withdrawn from school.

Caddell said these three would not be readmitted until cleared.

Wilson had criticized university authorities for their handling of the Lucy case, and the board took note of this.

"This student's (Wilson's) conduct and charges represent far more than the mere exercise of his right freely to debate the question of segregation," the trustees said.

Dr. Oliver C. Carmichael, university president, had said just after student riots that the issue was not "segregation vs. integration, but law and order vs. anarchy."

Sources close to Wilson indicated he would turn to the courts, as Miss Lucy has done, in an effort to gain readmittance. But it was believed likely he would file his action in the state instead of the federal courts where the Negro co-ed's case has been an issue for 30 months.

Constable Loses Case To Himself

GREAT MISSENDEN, England, March 12 (AP) — Brig. John N. Cheney, chief constable of Buckinghamshire, appeared in court today as both prosecutor and defendant.

The prosecutor won.

The 60-year-old police chief brought the case before a magistrate's court himself after being involved in an accident. A motorcyclist was forced off the road by his car at a crossing.

The chief explained it was a "borderline case" and he was prosecuting himself to save embarrassing police officers who serve under him.

Six Killed In Crash Of Air Force Plane

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., March 12 (AP)—A U.S. Air Force utility plane en route from Amarillo, Texas, to the Azores crashed and exploded today in the storm-tossed offshore waters south of Newfoundland. All six men aboard were killed.

The Grumman SA16 Albatross went down in Placenta Bay about a mile from shore after taking off on the 1,500 mile hop from the U.S. naval base at Argentina, Nfld.

Three witnesses said the plane failed to gain altitude after taking off.

Quarles Says ARDC Shift Unnecessary

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — Secretary of the Air Force Quarles was quoted today as saying the headquarters of the Air Research and Development Command (ARDC) could remain in Baltimore.

Rep. Devereux (R-Md) said Quarles told a Maryland delegation that "the door is not closed" so far as Baltimore is concerned.

Devereux and Rep. Lankford (D-Md), representing the Maryland congressional delegation, accompanied a group from Baltimore to see Quarles concerning plans to relocate the ARDC headquarters.

Dayton, Ohio, has been mentioned as a possible new location.

83 Senators Sponsor 'Honest Election' Bill

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), announced tonight 83 senators now have joined in sponsoring what he termed a new "honest elections" bill. He urged its early passage.

He said he has asked Sen. Green (D-RI), Senate Rules Committee chairman, to expedite that group's consideration of the measure.

He said the bill would require complete reporting of campaign contributions and expenditures and "set realistic ceilings on spending—ceilings which are low enough to be meaningful but high enough to remove the invitation to evasion that now exists."

Ford Approved Dealers' Solicitation For Ike Fund

Probers Told No Pressure Used

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—Henry Ford II acknowledged at a Senate inquiry today that he okayed the solicitation of Ford dealers for Eisenhower campaign funds in 1952.

But he said "I don't like pressure of any kind on any matter," and that as far as he knew there were no "reprisals or recriminations" against dealers who refused to contribute.

Ford testified he approved plans of his personal assistant, Allen W. Merrell, to ask "strong Eisenhower supporters" among Ford dealers to solicit GOP political contributions from other Ford dealers.

In a statement drawn up for his appearance before a Senate Commerce subcommittee, Ford added that no heat was put on the dealers, no company funds were used in the solicitiation and no other company personnel were involved.

The head of the Ford Motor Co. described himself as a strong Eisenhower supporter and told the senators he plans to raise funds for the Republican campaign again this year.

Chairman Monroney (D-Okla) commented that it could be construed as "indirect coercion" to solicit money in such a manner in 1952, a Korean War year, when dealers were dependent on a share of the short supply of cars for their livelihood.

Sens. Potter (R-Mich) and Payne (R-Maine) contended, however, there was no evidence of any coercion against a Ford dealer. Both argued Monroney was proceeding solely on the basis of "hearsay" evidence.

Monroney said he could produce number of witnesses who have reported they were subject to "indirect coercion" during the solicitation.

Milton Ratner, a Chicago Ford dealer for 20 years until he lost his franchise in 1955, has told the subcommittee he was asked to contribute $1,000 to the Eisenhower campaign in 1952 and was informed "the office of Henry Ford" wanted $50,000 from the Chicago dealers.

Ratner said he understood that only he and one other dealer in the Chicago area refused to contribute.

Monroney said he particularly wants to question the dealer who asked Ratner for the $1,000. This man has not been identified in the hearings. The chairman said the dealer left on a cruise as soon as the "pressure" question was raised in the subcommittee's auto marketing investigation several weeks ago, and that all efforts to locate him have failed.

Parking Ban Forecast

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The day is coming when parking will be banned on all downtown Washington streets, say District of Columbia officials.

In testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee released today, Lewis R. Watson Jr., motor vehicle parking agency director, said his office is planning such a future development.

Watson asked for $19,000 to plan "fringe" parking lots on the outskirts of the city.

Mistrial Denied In Roads Case

ROCKVILLE, Md., March 12 (AP)—Defense attorneys in the roads conspiracy trial launched their case today with unsuccessful motions for a mistrial and a directed verdict.

The defendants, Washington real estate men Max Offenberg and Constas Gus Basiliko, are charged with conspiring to defraud the State Roads Commission by manipulating the value of land bought for highway projects.

In the opening statements by the defense in Montgomery County Circuit Court, Walter W. Dawson, attorney for Basiliko, indicated to the jury the defense would attempt to show that other employes of the roads commission—in addition to former engineer Ben DuPre—"also dealt in oil transactions."

DuPre testified under an immunity promise last week that he received compensation totaling about $8,900 for helping Basiliko and Offenberg to buy land needed for state road work. Among his compensation, he said, was an interest in an Indiana oil well.

Dawson said the defense would show that other roads commission employes stayed at Basiliko's hotel at North Beach in the course of their work there, and that in neither business nor social affairs did Basiliko ever ask them for information.

Bail-Jumping Red Guilty Of Contempt

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Communist leader Gilbert Green was found guilty of contempt of court today for having jumped bail five years ago when he was due to go to prison.

Green, 49, Illinois party chairman, had been sentenced to five years for conspiracy to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

He gave himself up only two weeks ago.

Judge Archie O. Dawson set March 26 for sentencing on the contempt charge. He is empowered to impose any sentence he sees fit.

120-Story Building In Planning Stage

ST. LOUIS, March 12 (AP)—A private development company today submitted a preliminary plan to the St. Louis County Council for a 120-story building—18 stories taller than the Empire State Building in New York.

The project, which would cost an estimated 200 million dollars, was proposed by the Andabon Investment and Development Co., headed by Ira Fleischman of St. Louis.

The proposed site in suburban Clayton now is a parking lot, just south of the courthouse. The legal limit for buildings in Clayton now is five stories.

Marland To Name U.S. Senator Soon

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 12 (AP)—Gov. William C. Marland said today he has several applicants for West Virginia's vacant U.S. Senate seat and will announce an appointment in the "not too distant future."

By way of explaining his delay in making an interim appointment, Marland said it "is not a matter to be taken lightly." The vacancy was created by the death on Feb. 28 of U.S. Sen. Harley M. Kilgore.

The interim appointee will serve until the seating of a successor to be elected in November for the balance of Kilgore's unexpired term, which runs to January, 1959.

The question of whether the November candidates shall be nominated in the May 8 primary election or in party conventions is now before the State Supreme Court.

At his weekly news conference, Marland said he is prepared to call a special session of the Legislature to clarify the legal dilemma if the court decision indicates a need for legislative action.

He added, however, that he would "have to discuss the problem first with the Legislature to see what it would be best to do."

Newsmen could not pin Marland down as to whether he is personally interested in the Senate seat. His only reply was, "The matter still is under consideration."

Planning Tempo Of Businessmen Seen Stepped Up

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—Government agencies today were reported about ready to release a new business expansion forecast indicating that businessmen are betting heavily on continued prosperity.

The new forecast, said officials familiar with it, will report that businessmen have recently stepped up their plans for outlays on new plant and equipment this year. The most recent previous report indicated this spending would be at an annual rate of about 31½ billion dollars for the first quarter.

An upward revision in the planning tempo would be welcome economic news. Downturns in two other major economic sectors—auto production and home building—have made plant and equipment spending a major sustaining factor.

Business expansion soaks up much of the same basic output that the auto and home building industries use—steel and other metals, plastics and rubber, cement, machine tools, lumber and the like. Consequently, an upturn in plans for new business plant and equipment would help take up slack and tend to halt the spread of unemployment.

It would also have the further effect of registering a vote of confidence in continued prosperity. This psychological impact could be important, since plant and equipment spending plans have in the past been highly sensitive to economic trends.

The Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission survey business expansion plans quarterly, by means of questionnaires sent to businessmen throughout the country. The annual spring forecast now in the works is reported to show "a marked uptrend" in plans for heavy new investments in productive plant and equipment throughout this year.

British Drive To Ban Gallows Progresses

LONDON, March 12 (AP) — The campaign to abolish the death penalty for murder in Britain moved forward a step today.

The House of Commons by a vote of 286-262 gave approval in principle to an anticapital punishment bill on second reading.

The bill still faces stiff tests through committee stages and the House of Lords before it can become law.

Strike Idles 3,000 Seaway Employes

MASSENA, N.Y., March 12 (AP)—About 3,000 St. Lawrence Seaway and power project employes were idle today and all U.S. construction work halted because of a strike of 1,400 operating engineers.

The strike stemmed from a wage dispute.

About 10 sets of pickets—three to four in a group—patrolled job sites along a 40-mile stretch of the St. Lawrence River, on this side of the U.S.-Canadian border.

Members of the International Union of Operating Engineers struck Saturday night. Other workers respected the picket lines today.

U. Of Ala. Student Expelled For Participation In Riot

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., March 12 (AP)—A White Citizens Council leader was expelled and 24 other students punished less severely today by the University of Alabama for participation in mob action against Autherine Lucy, the school's first Negro student.

The university board of trustees announced the expulsion of Leonard R. Wilson, 20, Selma, Ala., sophomore; suspension of four students and lesser and undisclosed punishment against 20 others.

Wilson also was accused of false charges against university officials.

Miss Lucy was the object of campus rioting from Feb. 3 through Feb. 6, when a mob threatened to kill her. The 26-year-old former school teacher, already a college graduate, was "permanently expelled" Feb. 29 for unproved charges that university authorities conspired in mob action against her.

She has asked the federal court to order her readmitted.

A statement read today by John A. Caddell, Decatur, Ala., member of the trustees executive committee, added that three other students whose cases were under investigation had withdrawn from school.

Caddell said these three would not be readmitted until cleared.

Wilson had criticized university authorities for their handling of the Lucy case, and the board took note of this.

"This student's (Wilson's) conduct and charges represent far more than the mere exercise of his right freely to debate the question of segregation," the trustees said.

Dr. Oliver C. Carmichael, university president, had said just after student riots that the issue was not "segregation vs. integration, but law and order vs. anarchy."

Sources close to Wilson indicated he would turn to the courts, as Miss Lucy has done, in an effort to gain readmittance. But it was believed likely he would file his action in the state instead of the federal courts where the Negro co-ed's case has been an issue for 30 months.

Constable Loses Case To Himself

GREAT MISSENDEN, England, March 12 (AP) — Brig. John N. Cheney, chief constable of Buckinghamshire, appeared in court today as both prosecutor and defendant.

The prosecutor won.

The 60-year-old police chief brought the case before a magistrate's court himself after being involved in an accident. A motorcyclist was forced off the road by his car at a crossing.

The chief explained it was a "borderline case" and he was prosecuting himself to save embarrassing police officers who serve under him.

Six Killed In Crash Of Air Force Plane

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., March 12 (AP)—A U.S. Air Force utility plane en route from Amarillo, Texas, to the Azores crashed and exploded today in the storm-tossed offshore waters south of Newfoundland. All six men aboard were killed.

The Grumman SA16 Albatross went down in Placenta Bay about a mile from shore after taking off on the 1,500 mile hop from the U.S. naval base at Argentina, Nfld.

Three witnesses said the plane failed to gain altitude after taking off.

Quarles Says ARDC Shift Unnecessary

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — Secretary of the Air Force Quarles was quoted today as saying the headquarters of the Air Research and Development Command (ARDC) could remain in Baltimore.

Rep. Devereux (R-Md) said Quarles told a Maryland delegation that "the door is not closed" so far as Baltimore is concerned.

Devereux and Rep. Lankford (D-Md), representing the Maryland congressional delegation, accompanied a group from Baltimore to see Quarles concerning plans to relocate the ARDC headquarters.

Dayton, Ohio, has been mentioned as a possible new location.

83 Senators Sponsor 'Honest Election' Bill

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), announced tonight 83 senators now have joined in sponsoring what he termed a new "honest elections" bill. He urged its early passage.

He said he has asked Sen. Green (D-RI), Senate Rules Committee chairman, to expedite that group's consideration of the measure.

He said the bill would require complete reporting of campaign contributions and expenditures and "set realistic ceilings on spending—ceilings which are low enough to be meaningful but high enough to remove the invitation to evasion that now exists."

Most Of Maryland Nursing Homes Found To Be Unsafe

BALTIMORE, March 12 (AP)—The Committee on Medical Care of the State Planning Commission says a recent survey shows about 74 per cent of Maryland's 3,242 nursing home beds are in buildings considered unsafe.

Last May, Gov. McKeldin said Maryland, through its system of licensing and supervision, "is a leader among the states in maintaining the high standards of nursing homes."

The survey, included in a statewide plan for construction of nursing homes and other facilities, showed 3,242 beds in homes in Baltimore City and the counties. It said 2,398 of those beds are in nursing homes which do not meet the minimum standards for fire safety.

A breakdown showed that of 1,073 nursing home beds in Baltimore, 742 are in buildings that failed to pass fire safety checks.

Of 2,169 nursing home beds in the state's 23 counties, 1,656 are in buildings which are unsafe.

The committee survey also reported 83 of the 102 nursing homes in the counties are considered unsafe.

The report urged abandonment "as soon as possible" of all nursing homes in 11 counties — Allegany, Calvert, Cecil, Charles, Dorchester, Garrett, Howard, Harford, Kent, Wicomico and Worcester counties—describing these homes as unsuitable or having "no prospect of ever attaining satisfactory minimum standards."

On the basis of 1.5 nursing home beds needed per 1,000 population, the report said the state needs 8,793 beds to meet minimum requirements.

With only 844 of the 3,242 existing beds deemed suitable, the survey said 2,939 new beds would be needed.

It listed Allegany, Calvert, Caroline, Cecil and Charles counties in the top priority group, or those needing more beds urgently.

Next in line of need, the survey listed Dorchester, Garrett, Harford, Howard and Kent counties. And a third group included Prince Georges, Queen Annes, St. Marys, Somerset and Talbot.

Baltimore City and Baltimore County, lumped as one unit, were listed with Wicomico, Worcester, Anne Arundel and Frederick counties in the fourth priority group.

And Montgomery, Carroll and Washington counties were listed in the fifth group as those least in need of additional nursing home beds.

Five counties, all of which are included in the first three priority groupings, which presently have no nursing home facilities are Caroline, Queen Annes, Somerset, St. Marys and Talbot, the survey said.

It will be submitted to the State Planning Commission for approval and then will go to the State Department of Health which will use the priority ratings in determining how to use the $300,000 granted the State annually by the federal Hill-Burton Act.

Youths On Trial In Slaying Case

BALTIMORE, March 12 (AP) — First degree murder convictions were asked today for three teenage youths—two of them 15—who went on trial for the slaying of a Baltimore grocer during a Christmas Eve holdup.

Charged with the shooting are Edward Butler, 15; Richard Avon Briscoe, 15 and Tyrone John Stokley, 17, all Negroes.

In asking first degree convictions, Assistant State's Attys. James O'Conor Gentry and James W. Murphy cited Maryland law which makes killing the course of felony first degree murder.

A first degree conviction would mean a penalty of death or life imprisonment.

State Farm Crop Receipts Drop 5%

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — Maryland farmers got five per cent less money for their crops and livestock last year compared to a three per cent drop over the entire country.

The Agriculture Department said Maryland farmers received less money from crops but more for livestock for a net drop.

Crop receipts dropped from $84,001,000 to $70,813,000 last year compared to 1954 while livestock receipts went up from $164,563,000 to $165,364,000. Statewide, the receipts were $236,177,000 in 1955 compared to $248,564,000 in 1954.

Word got around yesterday that Prince Raner had forbidden any future local showings of films in which she appears.

Trio Overcome By Smoke, Plant Evacuated In Fire

BALTIMORE, March 12 (AP) — Three persons were overcome by smoke, a fourth was slightly injured and 3,000 employes were evacuated when fire broke out today at the Westinghouse Air Arm Division plant near here.

A company spokesman said the fire started shortly before noon in an electrical test booth in a manufacturing area of the plant's east wing.

A "great deal of smoke" was blamed for the mass evacuation.

The spokesman said the fire damage was "relatively small" and water damage from the automatic sprinkler system was not determined immediately. Further details of what caught fire were not disclosed because of the highly secret defense work done at the plant, located south of Baltimore near Friendship International Airport.

The Air Arm Division has not been affected by the nationwide Westinghouse strike in its 148th day.

Some of the 3,000 employes were sent home for the day, but others stayed and work resumed after a short interruption.

Three members of the plant's volunteer fire company—Russell Hewitt, Milford Riggins and Donald Clark — were overcome by smoke and were brought to St. Agnes Hospital in Baltimore. Francis Small suffered a lacerated right hand was treated by a company doctor.

Grace Kelly Movies Banned In Monaco

MONTE CARLO, March 12 (AP)—It seems that Monocans aren't going to be able to see Grace Kelly, soon to be the princess of Monaco, at their movie houses any more.

Word got around yesterday that Prince Raner had forbidden any future local showings of films in which she appears.

A palace spokesman today denied that any such order had been issued. But he added that Monte Carlo theater operators, knowing the Prince would prefer that none of her pictures be shown certainly would not want to do anything counter to the Prince's wishes.

Trio Overcome By Smoke, Plant Evacuated In Fire

BALTIMORE, March 12 (AP) — Three persons were overcome by smoke, a fourth was slightly injured and 3,000 employes were evacuated when fire broke out today at the Westinghouse Air Arm Division plant near here.

A company spokesman said the fire started shortly before noon in an electrical test booth in a manufacturing area of the plant's east wing.

A "great deal of smoke" was blamed for the mass evacuation.

The spokesman said the fire damage was "relatively small" and water damage from the automatic sprinkler system was not determined immediately. Further details of what caught fire were not disclosed because of the highly secret defense work done at the plant, located south of Baltimore near Friendship International Airport.

The Air Arm Division has not been affected by the nationwide Westinghouse strike in its 148th day.

Some of the 3,000 employes were sent home for the day, but others stayed and work resumed after a short interruption.

Three members of the plant's volunteer fire company—Russell Hewitt, Milford Riggins and Donald Clark — were overcome by smoke and were brought to St. Agnes Hospital in Baltimore. Francis Small suffered a lacerated right hand was treated by a company doctor.

Joins Aircraft Wing

Marine Cpl. James F. Kaiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Kaiser, and husband of the former Miss Jackileen Pennel, all of RD 2, Williams Road, reported in late February to the Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C., for duty with the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing.

An unusual case developed in Trial Magistrate Court yesterday when an 18-year-old youth was found guilty of driving under the influence on a motorcycle.

James M. McMillan, 11 Putman Street, was arrested Sunday by City Police and charged with four motor vehicle violations, including stealing the motorcycle which he was driving.

McMillan was given a hearing before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason and found guilty of all four counts. Sentence was deferred until Magistrate Mason has an opportunity to check the boy's record.

Magistrate Mason said the boy has a past criminal record, and ordered him committed to the Allegany county jail pending sentencing.

McMillan was arrested Sunday at the corner of Spring and Elm streets by Officers James Swann and Wilbur E. Shank.

Another youth, 17-years of age, involved in the case, will be given a hearing before Magistrate Mason today. The boy will be 18 years old in the near future and Magistrate Morris Baron waived jurisdiction in Juvenile Court for a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court.

Blacktopping Of Frederick Street Area Under Study

The Street Department is planning a cost survey for the blacktopping of Frederick Street from Decatur Street to Keiter's Market.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz told the Mayor and Council yesterday "We might as well go all the way and do it right," rather than do a job from the intersection with Linden Street.

Buchhoutz replied to a letter from J. L. Sullivan who called the condition of Frederick between Linden and the market a "disgrace," and cited inconvenience caused to residents.

Buchholtz said to call the condition "a disgrace is putting it mildly." He said his department has on numerous occasions filled holes in the streets, but the job is especially difficult because of heavy traffic. He said many tractor-trailer trucks use the street.

The commissioner said he proposed to measure the section from Decatur Street to the market to find out the cost of blacktopping. He also pointed out there is a "lot of curbing to be done."

"I want to make it clear that with the exception of intersections, cost of blacktopping must be borne by the taxpayers," he said.

W. D. Bartlett, 600 Ridgewood Avenue, appeared to thank the street department for improvements there, but also asked if Buchholtz could get a contractor to give residents an estimate on cost of curbing which is underway. Buchholtz said he thinks residents will find cost much cheaper with the city doing the work but that he will have some figures (estimates) available in about 10 days.

On other matters, council approved appointment of Addison Rinker as a laborer in the Recreation Department at $1 an hour on a seasonal basis, effective March 6.

Authorized was payment of $64,284.57 to Moyer Brothers Construction Company as partial payment for work on the sewage treatment plant between January 31 and February 29.

A tax refund of $21.60 was approved payable to C. Glenn Watson, agent for Sam Harris, 222 Springdale Street, the overpayment caused by a billing error.

Checks will be issued city employes for the first pay period of March on Thursday.

Acting parking meter inspector Louis Downey said collections the week of March 4 were $715.75 compared to $618.51 the week of February 26, or an increase of $97.24.

Six Local Draftees Assigned To Navy

Six of the eight local men who left March 8 for induction into the armed forces at Fairmont were drafted into the Navy.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator for the local Selective Service Boards, said yesterday that six of the men were accepted for Navy duty and sent to Bainbridge for boot training, while two were inducted into the Army.

Navy draftees from Board 27 include Charles Kinsman, 224 Gleason Street; Donald L. Dolly, Flintstone; Ernest D. Parsons, 439 Grand Avenue, and John R. Rice, 959 Glenwood Street. William F. Bell, 549 Williams Street, was accepted from Board 28 for the Navy, and Howard F. Diehl, RD 6, Locust Grove, was taken into the Navy from Board 29.

James L. Roby Jr., 112 Virginia Avenue, of Board 27 and Joseph P. Burkett, RD 5, this city, of Board 29 were drafted into the Army.

Youths Arrested For Firing Guns

Six local teen-age boys were apprehended over the weekend by City Police on charges of violating the firearms law covered by the City Code.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick fined the oldest boy, who is 19-years-old, at a hearing yesterday morning in Police Court, while the other five boys were released in the custody of their parents.

The five will be given a hearing Saturday morning before Magistrate Morris Baron in Juvenile Court.

Magistrate Dick fined the 19-year-old youth $5 and warned him that violating Chapter 14, Section 23, of the City Code can lead to serious trouble. The magistrate told the youth that the law states that it is unlawful to discharge any type of a gun or rifle within the city limits, and carries a fine from $1 to $25 upon conviction.

Magistrate Dick also pointed out that the law makes it unlawful to discharge any type of powder, including firecracker.

Water Line Listed In Deed Filed Here

A deed was filed in the land records office at the Court House today for the transfer of ownership of a 987 foot water line of two-inch pipe to the LaVale Sanitary Commission.

The deed was filed by David Kauffman, attorney for the commission. R. Watson DeHart and Nadine DeHart, his wife, and John H. Hutson and his wife, Ruth E. Hutson, deeded the line to the commission.

The section where the line is located is near the new Parkside School in LaVale. The residents on the line will be furnished with city water after the line is connected with the commission system.

City To Keep Tab On Plans For Parkway

"We can't let our guard down on the C&O Canal Parkway project," William H. Buchholtz, street commissioner, declared yesterday.

Buchholtz reminded the Mayor and Council that Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay has decided to seek the Republican nomination for senator in the State of Oregon.

McKay has been the leading figure in discussions which at first wrote off the project and then, through urging of senators and representatives and the city, decided to go ahead with building of the highway between Cumberland and Hancock.

"We must contact our senators and representative to see that there is no change in plans," Buchholtz said, in intimating that with McKay entering the senate race, the city should take action to see that plans are not changed while the campaign is on.

Mayor Roy W. Eves was authorized to contact Maryland's senators and the Sixth District representative.

C. L. Brotemarkle, assistant superintendent of Evitts Creek Water Company, said Lake Gordon is three inches above the crest of the spillway and Lake Koon two inches above. Water consumption for the week ending yesterday was 79,210,000 or a daily average of 11,315,000. For the same period a year ago it was 86,010,000 gallons.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long in a report of receipts and disbursements, listed the following March 1 balances: General, $451,936.29; general improvement bonds, $94,528.82; 1931 sewer bonds, $17,428.29; water operative, $156,165.63; sewage disposal plant, $191,567.14; and water improvements bonds 1955, $2,268.

Warren R. Mullenax, manager of Municipal Airport, said that in addition to painting and repairs, 300 feet of old fence was removed last month and replaced with a berm built from shale.

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 12—(INS)—The Eskimos are said to rid themselves of their aged by placing the offending oldster on an ice flow and casting him her adrift to die.

We are sometimes as pitiless and frequently as thoughtless with our senior citizens.

But the ever-increasing millions of Americans of advanced age are not entirely forgotten. They and the problem they represent in a society whose retirement laws have failed woefully to keep pace with the advances in life expectancy are the concern these days of a meeting in Palm Beach of a score of great men of chemistry, sociology, medicine and philosophy.

"The expectancy of life in the U.S. now has reached 70 years, twice the average span of life in George Washington's time," says Dr. Charles Sperti, key figure in the expanding work of the American Society for the Aged. "But we haven't learned to cope with or understand what better living conditions, better understanding of physical activities, the wonder drugs, and dieting have done to add years to our lives. We can still generate a lot more interest in an orphanage than in a home for the old."

Dr. Sperti is a remarkable soul who heads Cincinnati's Institutum Divi Thomae, a research center working on cancer and other diseases. His work in retarding or killing the enzyme (rottening) action in foods has won him great fame. His process of irradiating fresh orange and grapefruit juice, enabling it to retain its freshly-squeezed taste and vitamins for a month after it is placed under ordinary refrigeration, has brought him financial awards which he devotes to such work as his current study of our aged people.

Dr. Sperti has lined up an impressive and varied group to talk out the problem of our aged, including philanthropist Frank Hale, labor leader George Meany, Mary Pickford, several Nobel prize winners, and retired professors.

"Something seems basically wrong with a system that hails a professor on June 30, gives him a fine office and assistants to work with, and on July 1 says he's no longer fit to do his job," Dr. Sperti protests. "One day, every door has a welcome sign on it. The next day he is a bum."

At Emeritus House in Palm Beach, retired professors of note are invited to spend time in pleasant surroundings, continuing their interrupted research or embarking on new seas. Prof. Ernest Burgess, formerly of the University of Chicago, is busy at Emeritus House on a book about the American family. Dr. Sperti hopes that some day he can offer permanent residence at Emeritus House.

His aim toward alleviating the problem of the aged was summed up as (1) make the public more conscious that such a problem exists, and (2) improve the lot of the aged.

The matter, of course, is being attacked from many sides and by many other good people. The Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York operates ten homes and four neighborhood day care centers for the aged. Sunday many in their eighties and nineties exhibited and modeled their new found skills in arts, ceramics, dressmaking, millinery crafts and so forth.

Dr. Bruno Furst, memory training authority and director of the school of memory and concentration, in New York's Steinway Hall, comes forth with a kind word about the age-old complaint (on the part of thoughtless younger people) that an old person's memory invariably declines.

Not necessarily so, the doctor says. His studies show that the average person's learning ability reaches its peak at 20 and drops off about 15 per cent around 45. After that it may or may not decline. It depends largely on the person's becoming less interested. Actually, he says, the mature mind is capable of functioning very efficiently because it has such an abundance of memories to which to relate new facts. One of his women students, an 85-year-old senior citizen, rates even with youngsters in the class.

The matter, of course, is being attacked from many sides and by many other good people. The Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York operates ten homes and four neighborhood day care centers for the aged. Sunday many in their eighties and nineties exhibited and modeled their new found skills in arts, ceramics, dressmaking, millinery crafts and so forth.

Dr. Bruno Furst, memory training authority and director of the school of memory and concentration, in New York's Steinway Hall, comes forth with a kind word about the age-old complaint (on the part of thoughtless younger people) that an old person's memory invariably declines.

Not necessarily so, the doctor says. His studies show that the average person's learning ability reaches its peak at 20 and drops off about 15 per cent around 45. After that it may or may not decline. It depends largely on the person's becoming less interested Actually, he says, the mature mind is capable of functioning very efficiently because it has such an abundance of memories to which to relate new facts. One of his women students, an 85-year-old senior citizen, rates even with youngsters in the class.

Pilgrimage Recreates History

The Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage quote Dr. Paul Tillich in announcing the nineteenth annual pilgrimage, April 25 through May 6, inclusive, also a water tour May 26.

"History made visible" is the slogan of the Pilgrimage. When Dr. Tillich of Harvard Divinity School was recently interviewed on television, he said that European students had a deeper sense of the past than American students. Telling of his youth in an old walled town in East Germany, he said children breathed history with their games as well as their essons. In stressing the importance of history he said that a person historically aware can be more objective about problems of the day. He will feel less overwhelmed because he has developed the habit of looking back to former times to see how problems were solved. Perhaps we could find more help than we suspect in a more intimate knowledge of our ocal past. Although Baltimore is ot a walled town, it is filled with history if we scratch the surface. 'he newly restored Flag House is veritable shrine to the past, the Peale Museum, and the Maryland Historical Society are filled with our heritage in arts and crafts. These buildings are open to the public, so do not need to be included in the tour, but all visitors and many Baltimoreans will want to visit them.

This year the old houses which are open for the tour on Friday, April 27th are in the Mt. Royal Area. Here you will see one of the few urban residential sections in the country where change has resisted. Even the traffic is forced to adopt a more leisurely pace. In one block of John Street it has been blocked entirely for the sake of a small village green which fills the street. What is outstanding about this neighborhood is its neighborliness. People really care about who lives next door and across the street. There is a quiet serenity in the brick row houses, with their neat yards and gardens. The alleys that run through the rears are a diminutive replica in brick with white steps. These friendly exteriors will just give an inkling of the hospitality and welcome within. The Tour Book gives the details of the individual houses, and you won't want to miss one. There are portraits by the old masters, and collections of unusual variety from antique cricket cages at Dr. and Mrs. John T. King's, to rare old china and etchings at Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Benesch's. Whatever collectors' items appeal to you are sure to lurk behind the doors of these old houses.

The complete list is as follows: Maryland Institute, Mt. Royal Avenue and Lanvale St. Homes of: Mr. and Mrs. E. Randolph Keene, 1302 Rutter St., Mr. and Mrs. E. DeWitt Battams, 129 W. Lanvale St., Mrs. Elizabeth Conrad, 1308 John St., Mr. and Mrs. Louis Azrael, 1310 John St., Mr. and Mrs. Philander B. Briscoe 209 W. Lanvale St., Dr. and Mrs. John T. King, 219 W. Lanvale St., Mrs. Edward Venable, 232 W. Lanvale St., Miss Joan D. Murphy, 135 W. Lafayette Ave., Mr. and Mrs. George R. Vickers, 4th, 1414 Park Ave., Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Benesch, 1425 Park Ave., Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Park Kelly, 15 Bolton St., Mrs. P. Cummings Mahony, 1333 Bolton St., and studios of: Henry Berge, sculptor, 217 W. Lanvale St., M. Pauline Dutterer, weaver, 416 Jenkins Alley and Stanislav Rembski, artist, 1404 Park Ave.

National UW Establishes Fellowship, Party Planned

A bequest estimated at $300,000, to be used by the American Association of University Women to establish a number of new graduate fellowships for women, was announced last night by the association's Fellowship Endowment Trustees.

The new Fellowship will range from $3,000 to $3,500 according to the AAUW Fellowship Awards committee.

The bequest is part of a $4,500,000 estate left by Miss Shirley Farr, Brandon, Vt., a long time member of the association. It is the largest single gift to the Fellowship Endowment Fund, which now totals $1,372,645, the trustees announced. The market value of the fund, they say, is over $1,800,000. Miss Farr, who died last August, at the age of 74, played a prominent part in AAUW affairs in the 20's and 30's. She served on a number of national committees and was active in the establishment of the association's present headquarters at 1634 I Street, N. W., Washington. Her interest in AAUW program of furthering research and study by women scholars was also evidenced by her support of the Mary E. Woolley Fellowship of the North New England Unit of the association.

The nearly $2,000,000 awarded in fellowships and international grants in the past 25 years, has come from income on the endowment fund as well as yearly contributions by members. Both the Cumberland Branch and Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch have contributed to the fund as well as giving local scholarships. For the past seven years the local branch has given three scholarships a year.

Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch will hold a card party in April for its local Fellowship Scholarship fund.

In operation since 1890, when the first award of $500 was given the Fellowship and International Grant program has benefited about 11,000 women. Approximately one half of the awards have been given to American scholars and the remainder to women from other countries. Currently about 30 American women scholars are aided each year by AAUW through the national fellowships. The association also supports nine international fellowships each year, awarded to members of the International Federation of University Women, with the provision the recipient study in a country other than her own. In addition AAUW brings about 40 women from other countries to the United States each year for study and research under its International Grants program.

Pilgrimage Recreates History

The Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage quote Dr. Paul Tillich in announcing the nineteenth annual pilgrimage, April 25 through May 6, inclusive, also a water tour May 26.

"History made visible" is the slogan of the Pilgrimage. When Dr. Tillich of Harvard Divinity School was recently interviewed on television, he said that European students had a deeper sense of the past than American students. Telling of his youth in an old walled town in East Germany, he said children breathed history with their games as well as their essons. In stressing the importance of history he said that a person historically aware can be more objective about problems of the day. He will feel less overwhelmed because he has developed the habit of looking back to former times to see how problems were solved. Perhaps we could find more help than we suspect in a more intimate knowledge of our ocal past. Although Baltimore is ot a walled town, it is filled with history if we scratch the surface. he newly restored Flag House is veritable shrine to the past, the Peale Museum, and the Maryland Historical Society are filled with our heritage in arts and crafts. These buildings are open to the public, so do not need to be included in the tour, but all visitors and many Baltimoreans will want to visit them.

This year the old houses which are open for the tour on Friday, April 27th are in the Mt. Royal Area. Here you will see one of the few urban residential sections in the country where change has resisted. Even the traffic is forced to adopt a more leisurely pace. In one block of John Street it has been blocked entirely for the sake of a small village green which fills the street. What is outstanding about this neighborhood is its neighborliness. People really care about who lives next door and across the street. There is a quiet serenity in the brick row houses, with their neat yards and gardens. The alleys that run through the rears are a diminutive replica in brick with white steps. These friendly exteriors will just give an inkling of the hospitality and welcome within. The Tour Book gives the details of the individual houses, and you won't want to miss one. There are portraits by the old masters, and collections of unusual variety from antique cricket cages at Dr. and Mrs. John T. King's, to rare old china and etchings at Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Benesch's. Whatever collectors' items appeal to you are sure to lurk behind the doors of these old houses.

The complete list is as follows: Maryland Institute, Mt. Royal Avenue and Lanvale St. Homes of: Mr. and Mrs. E. Randolph Keene, 1302 Rutter St., Mr. and Mrs. E. DeWitt Battams, 129 W. Lanvale St., Mrs. Elizabeth Conrad, 1308 John St., Mr. and Mrs. Louis Azrael, 1310 John St., Mr. and Mrs. Philander B. Briscoe 209 W. Lanvale St., Dr. and Mrs. John T. King, 219 W. Lanvale St., Mrs. Edward Venable, 232 W. Lanvale St., Miss Joan D. Murphy, 135 W. Lafayette Ave., Mr. and Mrs. George R. Vickers, 4th, 1414 Park Ave., Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Benesch, 1425 Park Ave., Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Park Kelly, 15 Bolton St., Mrs. P. National UW Establishes Fellowship, Party Planned

A bequest estimated at $300,000, to be used by the American Association of University Women to establish a number of new graduate fellowships for women, was announced last night by the association's Fellowship Endowment trustees.

The new Fellowship will range from $3,000 to $3,500 according to the AAUW Fellowship Awards committee.

The bequest is part of a $4,500,000 estate left by Miss Shirley Farr, Brandon, Vt., a long time member of the association. It is the largest single gift to the Fellowship Endowment Fund, which now totals $1,372,645, the trustees announced. The market value of the fund, they say, is over $1,800,000. Miss Farr, who died last August, at the age of 74, played a prominent part in AAUW affairs in the 20's and 30's. She served on a number of national committees and was active in the establishment of the association's present headquarters at 1634 I Street, N. W., Washington. Her interest in AAUW program of furthering research and study by women scholars was also evidenced by her support of the Mary E. Woolley Fellowship of the North New England Unit of the association.

The nearly $2,000,000 awarded in fellowships and international grants in the past 25 years, has come from income on the endowment fund as well as yearly contributions by members. Both the Cumberland Branch and Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch have contributed to the fund as well as giving local scholarships. For the past seven years the local branch has given three scholarships a year.

Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch will hold a card party in April for its local Fellowship Scholarship fund.

In operation since 1890, when the first award of $500 was given the Fellowship and International Grant program has benefited about 11,000 women. Approximately one half of the awards have been given to American scholars and the remainder to women from other countries. Currently about 30 American women scholars are aided each year by AAUW through the national fellowships. The association also supports nine international fellowships each year, awarded to members of the International Federation of University Women, with the provision the recipient study in a country other than her own. In addition AAUW brings about 40 women from other countries to the United States each year for study and research under its International Grants program.

Truck Company Fined $3,350

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher has been notified of the verdict in a U. S. District Court for Eastern Ohio action against the Daniels Motor Freight, Inc., company in connection with violations of the Interstate Commerce Act.

The action resulted from an investigation into the collision of one of the firm's tractor-trailer trucks with a passenger car and another truck in LaVale on October 19, 1955 causing the deaths of five persons.

Property damage in the terrific crash amounted to $30,000. The facts upon which the proceedings were brought in Federal Court were presented by the Bureau of Inquiry and Compliance of the ICC.

The defendant firm was fined $3,350 following entry of its plea of guilty to an information charging it with violation of Part 11 of the ICC act. The fine was paid. Judge James C. Connell presided.

The company was charged with failing to equip a motor vehicle with brake tubing and brake hose suitably secure against chafing or mechanical injury, with failing to make proper identification of motor vehicles, with failing to require drivers to keep logs in form and manner prescribed, with failing to require drivers to report in writing with respect to defects or condition of motor vehicles and with failing to maintain a systematic inspection and maintenance records of each vehicle operated.

City Officials Discuss Flood Control Problems

Discussions and financial matters pertaining to the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project occupied a prominent place in yesterday's session of the Mayor and Council.

Two of the actions affect Ridgeley.

First, council authorized payment of $4,094 to the U. S. Treasurer covering the city's contribution toward condemnation proceedings over the Ridgeley High School athletic field which is needed for the project.

The case will be instituted in federal court. Previous meetings with the Mineral County Board of Education, owner of the property, failed to bring a satisfactory figure for the property.

Second, the Town of Ridgeley, through its mayor, Charles H. Fryer, asked council what has been done to alleviate a condition caused by trapping of sewage at the Mineral Street outlet into the Potomac River.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said that Ridgeley has been dumping 100 per cent of its sewage into the Potomac and it was pointed out the problem is the result of the river bed being higher than the sewer outlet.

He said there are three possible solutions: (1) lowering of the river channel; (2) flushing of the sewer once a week; or (3) install a pump and flush sewage from the low area down river.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said the problem is such that it warrants West Virginia and Maryland "getting their heads together" to find a solution.

He questioned the worth of the $2,000,000 sewage plant which is being constructed here if Ridgeley continues to dump sewage into the Potomac. And he added, "We all appreciate what we are trying to do for Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, but at the same time this presents a problem in the heart of the city, which needs an answer."

Buchholtz asked Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer of the Corps of Engineers, it if would be more practical to get the answer now rather than wait until later.

Dexter said it would be better settled now and that some pipe incidental to it might be installed at present. However, he said the question is whether the Corps of Engineers will allow work to go over or under the flood levee, and added it would be wise to look into the possibility now.

Dexter said the flow is all right, but because the sewer is below the river level, sewer gases back up. He said he beljeved the problem will be solved when the flood control project is completed between the new dam and Smith Island.

He added the pumping station won't solve the problem since it will be used only in time of flood.

Dexter and Nuzum were delegated to get in touch with Ridgeley and Nuzum to make a report to council next week.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said he believed the problem "big enough to warrant the interest of West Virginia."

A temporary easement with Cumberland Cement and Supply Company and another easement with Frank D. and Edith M. Taylor, involving property needed for flood control, were approved.

Stuffed Gorilla Feared Kidnaped

BRISTOL, England, March 12 (AP)—A gorilla named Alfred was missing tonight. His keeper found the side of his cage bashed open and a trail of straw leading to the street.

Police started searching the town. They suspected kidnaping by students.

"Alfred," a detective explained, "wouldn't do a thing like this by himself. He's never caused the slightest trouble since 1948—the year he was stuffed and put in the City Museum."

Stuffed Gorilla Feared Kidnaped

BRISTOL, England, March 12 (AP)—A gorilla named Alfred was missing tonight. His keeper found the side of his cage bashed open and a trail of straw leading to the street.

Police started searching the town. They suspected kidnaping by students.

"Alfred," a detective explained, "wouldn't do a thing like this by himself. He's never caused the slightest trouble since 1948—the year he was stuffed and put in the City Museum."

Here's the Big Difference That Makes It Possible

PRIMITIVE OXCARTS WERE BUILT WITH FLAT WOODEN-BEAM FRAMES, AXLES AND WHEELS WERE MOUNTED BELOW. A FLOOR OR BOX WAS PUT ON TOP. THE BUGGY, WAGON AND "HORSELESS CARRIAGE" USED SIMILAR FLAT FRAMES AND ATTACHED BODIES

EVEN TODAY, MOST CARS HAVE SEPARATE FLAT FRAMES WITH SEPARATE BODIES BOLTED TO THEM

ONLY AMERICAN MOTORS BUILDS CARS ON THE "SINGLE UNIT" PRINCIPLE. BODY AND FRAME ARE WELDED INTO A TOUGH, SUPER-STRONG "SINGLE UNIT". RESULT: PERFORMANCE AT LESS COST...GREATER COMFORT...MORE INSIDE ROOM...EASIER PARKING...SUPERIOR HANDLING AND CORNERING...ELIMINATION OF BODY SQUEAKS AND RATTLES...DOUBLE SAFETY...TOP RESALE VALUE

Why a total of $25,000 Personal Automobile Accident Insurance is given at No Extra Cost!

We back our confidence that American Motors cars are stronger, safer, more modern than others by giving each buyer of a new Rambler, Nash, Hudson or Metropolitan a total of $25,000 Personal Automobile Accident Insurance at no extra cost—divided equally between husband and wife.

This insurance provides for the payment of $12,500 to beneficiary or estate of either you or your spouse (if a member of your household at time of purchase)—thus providing the total of $25,000—if either or both should be fatally injured while driving or riding (either separately or together) in your new private passenger American Motors car anywhere in the world. Both are insured for the entire first year of ownership.

Covers fatality resulting within 100 days after date of accident. Applies to privately-owned cars purchased in the continental United States and Alaska where state insurance regulations permit.

Don't buy any new car until you get the facts about the priceless protection only American Motors cars can give you! See your Nash dealer! See your Hudson dealer!

Bennett Cerf Interviews George Romney

Noted publisher, columnist and television personality gets inside story of revolutionary advance in car construction from the President of American Motors.

CERF: Mr. Romney, why do you offer a total of $25,000 insurance with your new cars?

ROMNEY: It backs our claim that "single unit" construction makes the strongest, safest, most modern cars.

CERF: Is there really that much difference between the way you and other manufacturers make cars?

ROMNEY: All the difference between yesterday's railway coach and today's streamliner. Other cars still use a principle old as the oxcart: A flat frame bolted under a separate body. In our cars, frame and body are welded as a "single unit". It's the biggest stride since the all-steel body.

CERF: And this makes a safer car?

ROMNEY: Twice as safe. Instead of a flat frame underfoot, our frame is a steel, box-girder enclosure as big as the car. It gives you "wrap-around" protection in front, rear, sides and top.

CERF: That sounds like real protection.

ROMNEY: That's not all. Flat frames others use are stiff, so they transmit collision force throughout the car. Our big steel box-girders up front absorb most of the impact. They take the brunt of the punishment instead of passengers.

CERF: What about performance?

ROMNEY: That's a real plus. "Single unit" construction gives a better power-weight ratio. It's stronger and safer, but eliminates useless weight and bulk. Our cars have set many racing records.

CERF: And economy?

ROMNEY: They're tops. Rambler holds the gas mileage record in Mobilgas Economy Runs. Again, because our "hard-muscled" single unit avoids dead weight.

CERF: I like room and comfort.

ROMNEY: Nash and Hudson have more room inside than any high-priced car. Rambler equals medium-priced big cars. As for ride, the greater strength of our "single unit" lets us use larger springs, and superior front suspension.

CERF: Isn't resale value important?

ROMNEY: You bet. Rambler has top resale value in the low price field. In addition to other advantages, welded single unit cars last longer, make better used cars.

CERF: If all you say is true, why don't the Big Three make cars your way?

ROMNEY: You see, mere "bigness" can be a handicap in advanced automobile engineering. One of the biggest of the "Big 3" was years behind others in adopting the all-steel body. The bigger you are, the more factories you have—the more it costs to change.

CERF: I can understand that.

ROMNEY: Beginning in 1940, we spent over $50,000,000 to develop the "single unit" car. Today, it will cost the biggest companies billions to re-tool for our method.

CERF: Do you think they will follow you?

ROMNEY: No doubt about it. Our major competitors will probably make the change gradually—piecemeal—or one model at a time. Frankly, we will be happy to see our "single unit" construction adopted, because it will mean better, safer cars on American highways.

CERF: Well, I'm about ready for another car. I'm going down to look at American Motors cars.

ROMNEY: All I ask anyone to do is see and drive our modern "single unit" cars at a Nash or Hudson dealer's. The rest is up to you.

1,874,027 PEOPLE DID NOT DIE

Fifteen years ago, before the wonder drugs were discovered, death claimed 10.8 out of every 1,000 people in the U. S. But today, the death rate is down to 9.2 per 1,000 people — the lowest in history. This means that 1,874,027 people DID NOT DIE in the past 15 years — thanks to the antibiotics, the hormones, and the other miracle prescriptions which are now available. That's why we say:

Here's the Big Difference That Makes It Possible

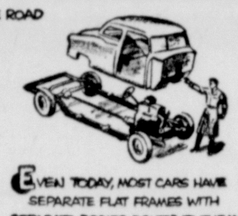
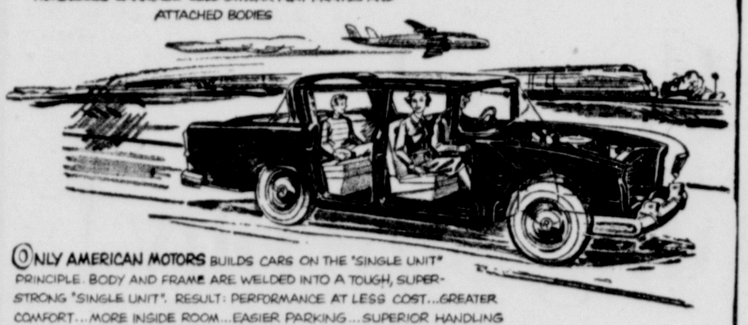
PRIMITIVE OXCARTS WERE BUILT WITH FLAT WOODEN-BEAM FRAMES. AXLES AND WHEELS WERE MOUNTED BELOW. A FLOOR OR BOX WAS PUT ON TOP. THE BUGGY, WAGON AND "HORSELESS CARRIAGE" USED SIMILAR FLAT FRAMES AND ATTACHED BODIES



EVEN TODAY, MOST CARS HAVE SEPARATE FLAT FRAMES WITH SEPARATE BODIES BOLTED TO THEM



ONLY AMERICAN MOTORS BUILDS CARS ON THE "SINGLE UNIT" PRINCIPLE. BODY AND FRAME ARE WELDED INTO A TOUGH, SUPER-STRONG "SINGLE UNIT". RESULT: PERFORMANCE AT LESS COST...GREATER COMFORT...MORE INSIDE ROOM...EASIER PARKING...SUPERIOR HANDLING AND CORNERING...ELIMINATION OF BODY SQUEAKS AND RATTLES...DOUBLE SAFETY...TOP RESALE VALUE

Why a total of $25,000 Personal Automobile Accident Insurance is given at No Extra Cost!

We back our confidence that American Motors cars are stronger, safer, more modern than others by giving each buyer of a new Rambler, Nash, Hudson or Metropolitan a total of $25,000 Personal Automobile Accident Insurance at no extra cost—divided equally between husband and wife.

This insurance provides for the payment of $12,500 to beneficiary or estate of either you or your spouse (if a member of your household at time of purchase)—thus providing the total of $25,000—if either or both should be fatally injured while driving or riding (either separately or together) in your new private passenger American Motors car anywhere in the world. Both are insured for the entire first year of ownership.

Covers fatality resulting within 100 days after date of accident. Applies to privately-owned cars purchased in the continental United States and Alaska where state insurance regulations permit.

Don't buy any new car until you get the facts about the priceless protection only American Motors cars can give you! See your Nash dealer! See your Hudson dealer!

AMERICAN MOTORS MEANS AM MORE FOR AMERICANS

Bennett Cerf Interviews George Romney

Noted publisher, columnist and television personality gets inside story of revolutionary advance in car construction from the President of American Motors.

CERF: Mr. Romney, why do you offer a total of $25,000 insurance with your new cars?

ROMNEY: It backs our claim that "single unit" construction makes the strongest, safest, most modern cars.

CERF: Is there really that much difference between the way you and other manufacturers make cars?

ROMNEY: All the difference between yesterday's railway coach and today's streamliner. Other cars still use a principle old as the oxcart: A flat frame bolted under a separate body. In our cars, frame and body are welded as a "single unit". It's the biggest stride since the all-steel body.

CERF: And this makes a safer car?

ROMNEY: Twice as safe. Instead of a flat frame underfoot, our frame is a steel, box-girder enclosure as big as the car. It gives you "wrap-around" protection in front, rear, sides and top.

CERF: That sounds like real protection.

ROMNEY: That's not all. Flat frames others use are stiff, so they transmit collision force throughout the car. Our big steel box-girders up front absorb most of the impact. They take the brunt of the punishment instead of passengers.

CERF: What about performance?

ROMNEY: That's a real plus. "Single unit" construction gives a better power-weight ratio. It's stronger and safer, but eliminates useless weight and bulk. Our cars have set many racing records.

CERF: And economy?

ROMNEY: They're tops. Rambler holds the gas mileage record in Mobilgas Economy Runs. Again, because our "hard-muscled" single unit avoids dead weight.

CERF: I like room and comfort.

ROMNEY: Nash and Hudson have more room inside than any high-priced car. Rambler equals medium-priced big cars. As for ride, the greater strength of our "single unit" lets us use larger springs, and superior front suspension.

CERF: Isn't resale value important?

ROMNEY: You bet. Rambler has top resale value in the low price field. In addition to other advantages, welded single unit cars last longer, make better used cars.

CERF: If all you say is true, why don't the Big Three make cars your way?

ROMNEY: You see, mere "bigness" can be a handicap in advanced automobile engineering. One of the biggest of the "Big 3" was years behind others in adopting the all-steel body. The bigger you are, the more factories you have—the more it costs to change.

CERF: I can understand that.

ROMNEY: Beginning in 1940, we spent over $50,000,000 to develop the "single unit" car. Today, it will cost the biggest companies billions to re-tool for our method.

CERF: Do you think they will follow you?

ROMNEY: No doubt about it. Our major competitors will probably make the change gradually—piecemeal—or one model at a time. Frankly, we will be happy to see our "single unit" construction adopted, because it will mean better, safer cars on American highways.

CERF: Well, I'm about ready for another car. I'm going down to look at American Motors cars.

ROMNEY: All I ask anyone to do is see and drive our modern "single unit" cars at a Nash or Hudson dealer's. The rest is up to you.

The United States And Arab-Israel War

President Eisenhower has said he would do everything he could do "constitutionally" to "prevent the outbreak of hostilities" between Israel and the Arab states. He showed himself a year ago disinclined to intervene anywhere militarily without express authority from Congress.

He asked Congress on January 24, 1955 to empower him to use armed forces, as he might deem "necessary," to defend Formosa and Nationalist-held islands in the Formosa Strait. He explained that although he probably had authority as commander-in-chief to act, at least to some extent, an empowering resolution by Congress would clear the air all around.

Congress complied with almost no opposition, for its sentiment was overwhelmingly against the Chinese Reds. Today, any congressional resolution seeming to take sides for or against Israel would set off fireworks that would befog the air.

After President Truman in 1950 directed U. S. forces to repel the Communist invasion of South Korea, Congress authorized the intervention. This then went under U. N. auspices, and on March 7 President Eisenhower said he hoped for "urgent and early action" by U. N. today to prevent an arms race in the Middle East. But any such action would need Russian cooperation, just as any new U. N.-sponsored military intervention would probably entail Russian participation, which the democracies would find it hard to stomach.

In 1950 the U. S., Britain and France declared they would "take joint action, both inside and outside U. N.," to prevent any Middle East state from "preparing to violate frontiers or armistice lines." Early this year President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden reiterated their adherence to the resolution, but it does not suffice by itself to let U. S. forces be used to enforce it. And this country has no joint defense agreement with Israel or the chief Arab states.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Republican Party

A test of inner strength of the Republican party was made evident in the general support of national committeemen and state chairmen for Richard Nixon. It was quite clear that there is a scheme to dump Nixon, that most influential in forwarding that scheme were persons who have had no history in the party but who have slipped into it when President Eisenhower was elected. General Lucius Clay for instance, is a Southern Democrat although he is also a close adviser to President Eisenhower.

After all, the real strength of the party is in the men and women who stood the gaff of 20 years of defeat and who never faltered while some of those who today exercise great influence were actually associated with the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. Some of these gentlemen are so skilled in slipping from one party to another that they are permanent office-holders and political associates no matter which party is chosen by the people. Instead of a two-party system, we are developing an elite which governs both parties.

And it was principally out of this element that the scheme developed to dump Vice President Nixon and to put in his place either Thomas E. Dewey or Governor Christian Herter of Massachusetts on the assumption that only a heart beat stood between the President and the Vice President and that while Nixon was an excellent vice president, he is not fit for the presidency. The movement for Dewey is quiescent but it can be aroused at a moment's notice. Christian Herter seems to be pushing his campaign for the vice presidency, or his friends are, and they will give the Democrats the opportunity to use against the Republicans the brutal argument that the candidate for president is a cardiac case and the candidate for vice president is an arthritic case, so what kind of a ticket is that? Certainly Christian Herter has no history that qualifies him for president and the Democrats may be plugging for him now so that they can more easily campaign against him when the time comes.

Our country benefits by strong partisanship because it is always the fanaticism of the party out of power which keeps the party in power better behaved. When the two parties do not fight each other but act as though politics were a petting party, both tend to becomee crooked. One of the current arguments against Richard Nixon is that he is too partisan, too much of a Republican which is what he should be, as he was elected as such.

Even Eisenhower has learned, although it took him a long time, that he must either be a Republican or get defeated. His old friends had actually sold him the idea that he could, as president, be above party, as the Queen of England is above party. But that is not for this country where we have the two-party system and a president is a partisan, a leader of one of the parties. He must expect the opposition party to oppose and to fight him, which the Democrats are now doing. The argument that Richard Nixon is unfit to continue to be vice president because he is too much of a Republican is untenable in the traditions of American history. All vice presidents since John Adams were partisans and it has not once happened that a vice president who succeeded a president was one of the opposite party. It could be said perhaps that Andrew Johnson was a Democrat, but he ran with Lincoln as a member of Lincoln's party in the Civil War days when no real Democrat could have been elected in the North.

There is only one logical argument against any man who runs for public office and that is that he is unsuited for it. After four years in office, nobody brings up the argument that Nixon does not know how to be a vice president. They admit that he has done very well in that job; but, they say, he fought too hard for his party in the 1954 campaign and said things about the Democrats as unsuitable as what Harry Truman says about the Republicans. While that is somewhat exaggerated because no one can equal Harry Truman in the vernacular, Nixon should not be penalized for supporting his party. Republicans can stay away from the polls if they are not wanted.

Events Are Moving Rapidly In The Middle East

Change In Seven States Could Cause GOP Defeat

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The next presidential election looks very close. If no more than 702,000 persons out of the 9,164,000 who voted for Eisenhower in 1952 in seven doubtful states should change their minds next November, the Republican presidential ticket could be defeated. It involves a change of only about seven and a half per cent which can readily result from disaffection inside the Republican party.

This tabulation assumes that the four southern states with an electoral vote of 57 which went for Eisenhower last time—Texas, Florida, Tennessee and Virginia—will surely be lost to the Republicans in 1956 in resentment over the segregation issue.

Maryland Considered Doubtful

The reason why an Eisenhower majority of 266 in the electoral college might not develop this time is that these seven doubtful states—Minnesota, Missouri, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Michigan and Oklahoma—comprise 120 electoral votes and the evidence shows they are leaning toward the Democratic side.

When 120 are subtracted from the 385 electoral votes that Eisenhower got outside the Solid South in 1952, it leaves only 265 which is one less than the majority of 266 needed to elect a president.

Actually the picture for the Republicans is even dimmer. There are, for instance, 19 other electoral votes which also are doubtful — Arizona, New Mexico, Montana, Rhode Island, and Delaware. In each of these states the margin was narrow in 1952. Also in the 1954 elections the drop in percentage points on the total votes cast for Republican as against Democratic members of the House of Representatives in those five states was considerable.

There is a substantial segregationist sentiment in the "border" states of Oklahoma, Missouri and Maryland, and this can be expected to wipe out the Republican margin of 1952. Already, in the 1954 election, Republican strength showed a drop off in these as well as in four other northern states which together comprise the total of 120 electoral votes. Here is a table which shows the percentage of the total vote gotten in these seven doubtful states by the Republicans for seats in the House in 1954 as compared with the congressional vote in 1952:

	1952	1954	Electoral Vote
Oklahoma	41.3	35.1	8
Maryland	51.8	46.3	9
Missouri	47.8	43.8	13
Minnesota	54	47.2	11
Michigan	52.6	48.1	20
Illinois	53.9	49.6	27
Pennsylvania	52.3	49.3	32
Total			120

Examining also the Eisenhower majorities in 1952 in each of these seven doubtful states, they could be overturned by a change of only three per cent in Oklahoma, less than six per cent in Maryland, less than one per cent in Missouri, less than five per cent in Minnesota, less than six per cent in Michigan and about five per cent in Illinois.

The farm disaffection is strong in Missouri, Minnesota and Oklahoma and could be a factor in southern Illinois and upper Michigan where the rural vote is normally Republican. As for Pennsylvania, it elected a Democratic governor last time by reason of the Democratic strength in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and the fall off of the regular Republican vote in the other parts of the state. Michigan told the same story in the senatorial race in 1954—with Detroit increasing the Democratic strength and the rest of the state showing a big stay-at-home total of regular Republicans.

Many Trouble Spots

Whichever way the Republican strategists may look at the picture they find plenty of trouble spots. There is, for example, danger in New York State with its 45 electoral votes. Senator Ives, Republican, who had won by a majority of 1,332,198 in 1952 lost by 11,125 as a gubernatorial candidate in November 1954. This was due to defections of regular Republicans who were resentful over the way McCarthy was opposed by the Eisenhower administration as indicated in the turnover of Queens County, which had given Ives a big majority in 1952 and had rolled up Republican majorities consistently for Republican candidates in previous years.

Plainly the Republican managers will have to figure out a way to get a united party and a ticket that will persuade Republicans to go to the polls in 1956. They should be worrying far less about what will attract "left wing" Democrats and more about winning back regular Republicans. As one prominent senator put it to this correspondent the other day: "For every Democrat supposedly attracted by deserting Nixon, we will lose two regular Republicans who will stay at home."

Attorney General Plans To Indict Eight Congressmen In Tax Cases

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Brownell is launching some bare-knuckle crack-downs on congressmen — all of them so far Democrats. Ir the next two months he plans to indict approximately eight congressmen, possibly more, for income tax evasion.

The first of these cases came to a head before a grand jury in Boston last week when Democratic Congressman Thomas Lane of Massachusetts was indicted. Others on Brownell's list include two from the South, one from California, two from Pennsylvania.

One congressman whom Brownell has had the ax out to get is William Green of Philadelphia, boss of the Democratic machine in a city which has been Republican-controlled almost ever since the Civil War, but which has been Democratic for the past five years. Green, who is the Philadelphia Democratic chairman, has had his taxes gone over with a fine tooth comb, during which the tax agents found he had failed to chalk up $1,200 from the sale of a lot.

Green stated to this column that it was an honest oversight made by his bookkeeper. Whether Brownell's boys will view it that way is something else again.

Significantly, Brownell also cracked down on one of the potent Democratic leaders of West Virginia, Homer Hanna, with an income tax indictment last week — just as West Virginia Democrats were trying to pick a successor to Senator Harley Kilgore. Hanna has picked a lot of senators in the past.

Gas Lobby

One month has now passed since Senator Lyndmon Johnson of Texas, the handsome Senate Democratic leader, lashed out at Republican Senator Case of South Dakota for impugning the integrity of the Senate. "The good name of the Senate," he proclaimed, "must be protected."

Since then various moves and countermoves, stalls and counterstalls have been made in the process of protecting the fair name of the Senate, but its name remains even less protected than on the day meek Senator Case opened wide the Senate Pandora's box of political contributions.

Gentleman From New Hampshire

Here is how the wires are being pulled and the cards played in the latest moves to sidestep, block, or push the gas-oil lobby probe.

One of the most likeable members of the Senate is Styles Bridges of New Hampshire — also one of the most astute. Coming to Washington as a young ex-governor of New Hampshire, he has now been here longer than any other Republican senator yet still looks young, still keeps his sense of humor.

Being skilled in the ways of senators, Bridges seldom gets out on the firing line. He can operate better backstage, with other senators fronting for him. He has friends on both sides of the aisle, can usually work with Democrats as well as with Republicans.

For a man of Bridges' power and prestige to step out on the firing line as a member of both Senate investigating committees, therefore, is highly unusual. It means that the investigation of gas-oil contributions is so important either to the Republican party or to Eisenhower or to Bridges himself that he is not going to trust anyone else. Instead he, the ranking Republican, stepped in and exercised his right to sit on both the George special committee probing the Case offer and the Select special committee supposed to probe the entire field of lobbying.

Strange Move

This unusual move on Bridges' part struck Capitol observers as strange at the start. As the story unfolded, however, it became more understandable.

For it eventually leaked out that Elmer Patman, lobbyist for Superior Oil, who had splashed the money around for senators in South Dakota, Iowa, and Nebraska listed expenses for two trips to New Hampshire to confer with Senator Bridges.

This came out one month after Bridges got himself appointed on the George committee and selected his personal friend, Charles Steadman, as committee counsel. It came out only after Patman's expenses, showing trips to Concord N. H., were made public, following which Senator Bridges was queried by newsmen and admitted one of the Patman visits. Patman's expense accounts showed two visits.

Bridges did not, however, volunteer this information as the Senate investigation first began, nor did he use it as an excuse either to his conscience or to his colleagues to step aside and not serve on the two committees. On the contrary, he decided that he must serve.

The conclusion seems unmistakable, therefore, that the tactic of the likeable Senator Bridges in stalling the wider investigation of the Select committee is deliberate and calculated.

Behind The Stall

What the public is entitled to know, is why the stall?

The politically wise already know that Bridges is a big money-raiser for the GOP. Thus, if the gas lobby was contributing to the general GOP campaign fund in addition to such individual states as South Dakota. Iowa, and Nebraska, the lobby would likely do it through Bridges.

On the other hand, if Elmer Patman merely wanted to consult Bridges about the timing of the gas bill he would do it by telephone, not take a long trip to New Hampshire. But if he wanted to contribute to the Republican party, he would make a special trip. Cash, which was what the Superior Oil lobby used in South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa, can't be sent easily by mail.

The Nixon Hubbub

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The acres of newsprint that are being lavished on the political future of Vice President Richard Nixon are chiefly interesting as proof of the way the figure of President Eisenhower now dominates the political scene.

The first trial heat of the Democratic nomination race is at hand in New Hampshire; and it may be much more interesting than most people have expected. The leading Democratic contender, Adlai Stevenson, has been speaking frequently; and much of what he has been saying has been worth attention. The world horizon is positively black with chickens coming home to roost; and practically every one of the chickens looks more like a vulture than a hen.

Vice President The Topic

But what is the American nation discussing? With the Republican convention nearly five months away, the main topic of political discussion is the Republican vice presidential nomination, which is normally a hasty after-thought. In part, this obviously reflects the general but publicly unfashionable suspicion that a coronary thrombosis really does not resemble a rest-cure. But even more, this vice-presidential discussion reflects the almost unanimous belief that the President, having made his great choice, is a shoo-in for re-election.

Precisely because a president who has had a heart attack is now so likely to be re-elected, his choice of a running-mate is of course important. But that does not give real significance to the "will he, won't he, will he, won't he" speculation, like nothing so much as another song by the mock turtle, that has been going on for so long. The main facts of the situation are very plain indeed, if ordinarily reliable information can be trusted.

In the first place, the President likes and trusts Nixon, and would prefer him to any other running mate. But as Eisenhower has repeatedly said, he does not want to commit himself at this time. He will never exclude Nixon from the ranks of the potentially blessed; but he wants a free hand to bless other contenders if Nixon really begins to look like a serious handicap to the ticket.

Nixon Leads Contenders

It may be true that in order to insure having a perfectly free hand, the President offered the Vice President the Interior Department, which is now being vacated by Secretary Douglas McKay. He may even have suggested the Defense Department, which may later be vacated by Secretary Charles E. Wilson. But if the President did this, he quite certainly made his suggestion in a way that invited a rejection. Probably he wanted to end a White House argument, by putting himself in a position to say to the anti-Nixon Republicans:

"I've done everything about that problem I honorably can, and I can't and won't do anything further."

In these circumstances, in the second place, Nixon is quite plainly several laps ahead of all the other contenders for the vice presidential nomination at the present time. He has certainly been wounded by the President's failure to give him a final endorsement at this time. He is reported to reason, and reason very logically too, that he is being penalized for bearing the brunt of the political battle at the President's request and on the President's behalf.

His personal position is also extremely delicate, perhaps ever more delicate than in the doubtful period after the President was first taken ill. As these words are written, therefore, he is authoritatively reported to be considering an announcement that he too thinks the Republican vice presidential choice should be left open until convention-time.

Preferred Choice

But the dolors of Nixon's personal position do not in any way reduce his present lead in the race. He is the preferred choice of the President. He is the preferred choice of the Republican organizations in about three quarters of the states. He is the announced choice of the Republican national chairman, the astute Len Hall, who does not speak without "clearing it with Sherm."

There are only two ways, therefore, that Nixon can be beaten. One way is for a solid phalanx of opposition to form in the eastern wing of the Republican party, where anti-Nixon sentiment chiefly centers. But this way is blocked, at least for the present. There can be no anti-Nixon eastern phalanx without New York state; and Nixon is also the preferred choice of former Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

The other way to beat Nixon is for Nixon to beat himself. He may so mishandle himself as to cause the President to turn against him, or to cause the political polls to show that he really is a handicap to the ticket. But as long as Nixon handles himself as well as he has done in these last difficult months, the betting is on Nixon to win in the end.

Only Hope For Alcoholism Is Total Abstinence

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

All of the treatments for alcoholism have some merit but none is successful in all cases. The effects of the different plans are difficuut to evaluate because many alcoholics go on the wagon voluntarily; however, that these persons have lost their ability to imbibe normally; their only hope is total abstinence.

At one time it was believed that alcoholism was a glandular disorder but the idea was abandoned because treatment failed to produce long range improvement. Heredity and nutritional causes met the same fate. In a small percentage, the reason for addiction is known but in the majority, the situation is extremely complex.

These people require complete rehabilitation of personality and the elimination of the stresses that "drive a man to drink." These men and women need help; alcohol has become a problem to them.

The best results have been obtained through Alcoholics Anonymous, Antabuse, and psychotherapy. AA has been in existence for 17 years but there is no official tally on their results. This fellowship group of similarly afflicted individuals give each other moral support.

Its members believe that alcoholism is never cured but can be controlled so long as abstinence is practiced. The fact is accepted that the victim is powerless over alcohol and, unless he refrains, his body will be totally destroyed.

Antabuse is a chemical agent that leads to unpleasant symptoms when the user drinks. The product is referred to as "a built in policeman." The alcoholic takes this drug every day and knows he will become violently ill if he drinks. The drug is not eliminated for two to seven days and if the patient decided to go on a toot, this time lag acts as a cooling off period.

The psychiatrist attempts to unearth the emotional origins of addiction and to give the alcoholic an insight into his problems. Group psychotherapy is becoming more popular because it offers alcoholics a chance to discuss their problems with others in the same boat.

Penalizing the alcoholic by sending him to jail usually fails to help the victim; it merely satisfies those who have been hurt most —the family. On the other hand, the threat of punishment can be used to apply pressure on the one who refuses treatment. This is the rationale for probation.

REPLY

Yes. Other origins include eyestrain, iritis, glaucoma and migraine.

SIGNS WANTED

C. W. writes: If you suspect that a person is an alcoholic, what signs do you look for?

The condition is suspected when a person with a flushed face is nervous and shaky and takes frequent nips during the day.

REPLY

Not when the procedure is done properly and the suture material at the open ends of the tubes remains intact.

PAIN SITE

Mrs. M. writes: Is pain from appendicitis always on the right side?

REPLY

No. Initially pain is located in the middle of the abdomen but as the infection localizes, distress moves to the right in 99 cases out of 100. Exceptions occur when the individual's organs are reversed (situs inversus), should the organ rupture and pus gravitate to the left side, or if the appendix is unusually long.

The United States And Arab-Israel War

President Eisenhower has said he would do everything he could do "constitutionally" to "prevent the outbreak of hostilities" between Israel and the Arab states. He showed himself a year ago disinclined to intervene anywhere militarily without express authority from Congress.

He asked Congress on January 24, 1955 to empower him to use armed forces, as he might deem "necessary," to defend Formosa and Nationalist-held islands in the Formosa Strait. He explained that although he probably had authority as commander-in-chief to act, at least to some extent, an empowering resolution by Congress would clear the air all around.

Congress complied with almost no opposition, for its sentiment was overwhelmingly against the Chinese Reds. Today, any congressional resolution seeming to take sides for or against Israel would set off fireworks that would befog the air.

After President Truman in 1950 directed U. S. forces to repel the Communist invasion of South Korea, Congress authorized the intervention. This then went under U. N. auspices, and on March 7 President Eisenhower said he hoped for "urgent and early action" by U. N. today to prevent an arms race in the Middle East. But any such action would need Russian cooperation, just as any new U. N.-sponsored military intervention would probably entail Russian participation, which the democracies would find it hard to stomach.

In 1950 the U. S., Britain and France declared they would "take joint action, both inside and outside U. N.," to prevent any Middle East state from "preparing to violate frontiers or armistice lines." Early this year President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden reiterated their adherence to the resolution, but it does not suffice by itself to let U. S. forces be used to enforce it. And this country has no joint defense agreement with Israel or the chief Arab states.

These Days

The Republican Party

A test of inner strength of the Republican party was made evident in the general support of national committeemen and state chairmen for Richard Nixon. It was quite clear that there is a scheme to dump Nixon, that most influential in forwarding that scheme were persons who have had no history in the party but who have slipped into it when President Eisenhower was elected. General Lucius Clay for instance, is a Southern Democrat although he is also a close adviser to President Eisenhower.

After all, the real strength of the party is in the men and women who stood the gaff of 20 years of defeat and who never faltered while some of those who today exercise great influence were actually associated with the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. Some of these gentlemen are so skilled in slipping from one party to another that they are permanent office-holders and political associates no matter which party is chosen by the people. Instead of a two-party system, we are developing an elite which governs both parties.

And it was principally out of this element that the scheme developed to dump Vice President Nixon and to put in his place either Thomas E. Dewey or Governor Christian Herter of Massachusetts on the assumption that only a heart beat stood between the President and the Vice President and that while Nixon was an excellent vice president, he is not fit for the presidency. The movement for Dewey is quiescent but it can be aroused at a moment's notice. Christian Herter seems to be pushing his campaign for the vice presidency, or his friends are, and they will give the Democrats the opportunity to use against the Republicans the brutal argument that the candidate for president is a cardiac case and the candidate for vice president is an arthritic case, so what kind of a ticket is that? Certainly Christian Herter has no history that qualifies him for president and the Democrats may be plugging for him now so that they can more easily campaign against him when the time comes.

Our country benefits by strong partisanship because it is always the fanaticism of the party out of power which keeps the party in power better behaved. When the two parties do not fight each other but act as though politics were a petting party, both tend to becomee crooked. One of the current arguments against Richard Nixon is that he is too partisan, too much of a Republican which is what he should be, as he was elected as such.

Even Eisenhower has learned, although it took him a long time, that he must either be a Republican or get defeated. His old friends had actually sold him the idea that he could, as president, be above party, as the Queen of England is above party. But that is not for this country where we have the two-party system and a president is a partisan, a leader of one of the parties. He must expect the opposition party to oppose and to fight him, which the Democrats are now doing. The argument that Richard Nixon is unfit to continue to be vice president because he is too much of a Republican is untenable in the traditions of American history. All vice presidents since John Adams were partisans and it has not once happened that a vice president who succeeeded a president was one of the opposite party. It could be said perhaps that Andrew Johnson was a Democrat, but he ran with Lincoln as a member of Lincoln's party in the Civil War days when no real Democrat could have been elected in the North.

There is only one logical argument against any man who runs for public office and that is that he is unsuited for it. After four years in office, nobody brings up the argument that Nixon does not know how to be a vice president. They admit that he has done very well in that job; but, they say, he fought too hard for his party in the 1954 campaign and said things about the Democrats as unsuitable as what Harry Truman says about the Republicans. While that is somewhat exaggerated because no one can equal Harry Truman in the vernacular, Nixon should not be penalized for supporting his party. Republicans can stay away from the polls if they are not wanted.

Events Are Moving Rapidly In The Middle East

Change In Seven States Could Cause GOP Defeat

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The next presidential election looks very close. If no more than 702,000 persons out of the 9,164,000 who voted for Eisenhower in 1952 in seven doubtful states should change their minds next November, the Republican presidential ticket could be defeated. It involves a change of only about seven and a half per cent which can readily result from disaffection inside the Republican party.

This tabulation assumes that the four southern states with an electoral vote of 57 which went for Eisenhower last time—Texas, Florida, Tennessee and Virginia—will surely be lost to the Republicans in 1956 in resentment over the segregation issue.

Maryland Considered Doubtful

The reason why an Eisenhower majority of 266 in the electoral college might not develop this time is that these seven doubtful states—Minnesota, Missouri, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Michigan and Oklahoma—comprise 120 electoral votes and the evidence shows they are leaning toward the Democratic side.

When 120 are subtracted from the 385 electoral votes that Eisenhower got outside the Solid South in 1952, it leaves only 265 which is one less than the majority of 266 needed to elect a president.

Actually the picture for the Republicans is even dimmer. There are, for instance, 19 other electoral votes which also are doubtful — Arizona, New Mexico, Montana, Rhode Island, and Delaware. In each of these states the margin was narrow in 1952. Also in the 1954 elections the drop in percentage points on the total votes cast for Republican as against Democratic members of the House of Representatives in those five states was considerable.

There is a substantial segregationist sentiment in the "border" states of Oklahoma, Missouri and Maryland, and this can be expected to wipe out the Republican margin of 1952. Already, in the 1954 election, Republican strength showed a drop off in these as well as in four other northern states which together comprise the total of 120 electoral votes. Here is a table which shows the percentage of the total vote gotten in these seven doubtful states by the Republicans for seats in the House in 1954 as compared with the congressional vote in 1952:

	1952	1954	Electoral Vote
Oklahoma	41.3	35.1	8
Maryland	51.8	46.3	9
Missouri	47.8	43.8	13
Minnesota	54	47.2	11
Michigan	52.6	48.1	20
Illinois	53.9	49.6	27
Pennsylvania	52.3	49.3	32
Total			120

Examining also the Eisenhower majorities in 1952 in each of these seven doubtful states, they could be overturned by a change of only three per cent in Oklahoma, less than six per cent in Maryland, less than one per cent in Missouri, less than five per cent in Minnesota, less than six per cent in Michigan and about five per cent in Illinois.

The farm disaffection is strong in Missouri, Minnesota and Oklahoma and could be a factor in southern Illinois and upper Michigan where the rural vote is normally Republican. As for Pennsylvania, it elected a Democratic governor last time by reason of the Democratic strength in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and the fall off of the regular Republican vote in the other parts of the state. Michigan told the same story in the senatorial race in 1954—with Detroit increasing the Democratic strength and the rest of the state showing a big stay-at-home total of regular Republicans.

Many Trouble Spots

Whichever way the Republican strategists may look at the picture they find plenty of trouble spots. There is, for example, danger in New York State with its 45 electoral votes. Senator Ives, Republican, who had won by a majority of 1,332,198 in 1952 lost by 11,125 as a gubernatorial candidate in November 1954. This was due to defections of regular Republicans who were resentful over the way McCarthy was opposed by the Eisenhower administration as indicated in the turnover of Queens County, which had given Ives a big majority in 1952 and had rolled up Republican majorities consistently for Republican candidates in previous years.

Plainly the Republican managers will have to figure out a way to get a united party and a ticket that will persuade Republicans to go to the polls in 1956. They should be worrying far less about what will attract "left wing" Democrats and more about winning back regular Republicans. As one prominent senator put it to this correspondent the other day: "For every Democrat supposedly attracted by deserting Nixon, we will lose two regular Republicans who will stay at home."

Only Hope For Alcoholism Is Total Abstinence

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

All of the treatments for alcoholism have some merit but none is successful in all cases. The effects of the different plans are difficuut to evaluate because many alcoholics go on the wagon volun- however, that these persons have lost their ability to imbibe normally; their only hope is total abstinence.

At one time it was believed that alcoholism was a glandular disorder but the idea was abandoned because treatment failed to produce long range improvement. Heredity and nutritional causes met the same fate. In a small percentage, the reason for addiction is known but in the majority, the situation is extremely complex.

These people require complete rehabilitation of personality and the elimination of the stresses that "drive a man to drink." These men and women need help; alcohol has become a problem to them.

The best results have been obtained through Alcoholics Anonymous, Antabuse, and psychotherapy. AA has been in existence for 17 years but there is no official tally on their results. This fellowship group of similarly afflicted individuals give each other moral support.

Its members believe that alcoholism is never cured but can be controlled so long as abstinence is practiced. The fact is accepted that the victim is powerless over alcohol and, unless he refrains, his body will be totally destroyed.

Antabuse is a chemical agent that leads to unpleasant symptoms when the user drinks. The product is referred to as "a built in policeman." The alcoholic takes this drug every day and knows he will become violently ill if he drinks. The drug is not eliminated for two to seven days and if the patient decided to go on a toot, this time lag acts as a cooling off period.

The psychiatrist attempts to unearth the emotional origins of addiction and to give the alcoholic an insight into his problems. Group psychotherapy is becoming more popular because it offers alcoholics a chance to discuss their problems with others in the same boat.

Penalizing the alcoholic by sending him to jail usually fails to help the victim; it merely satisfies those who have been hurt most —the family. On the other hand, the threat of punishment can be used to apply pressure on the one who refuses treatment. This is the rationale for probation.

Yes. Other origins include eyestrain, iritis, glaucoma and migraine.

PAIN SITE

REPLY

No. Initially pain is located in the middle of the abdomen but as the infection localizes, distress moves to the right in 99 cases out of 100. Exceptions occur when the individual's organs are reversed (situs inversus), should the organ rupture and pus gravitate to the left side, or if the appendix is unusually long.

EYE DISORDER

Occasionally, in the aged, the retina in the region of the macula undergoes degeneration as a result of arteriosclerosis. This is followed by diminution of vision.

Attorney General Plans To Indict Eight Congressmen In Tax Cases

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Brownell is launching some bare-knuckle crack-downs on congressmen — all of them so far Democrats. Ir the next two months he plans to indict approximately eight congressmen, possibly more, for income tax evasion.

The first of these cases came to a head before a grand jury in Boston last week when Democratic Congressman Thomas Lane of Massachusetts was indicted. Others on Brownell's list include two from the South, one from California, two from Pennsylvania.

One congressman whom Brownell has had the ax out to get is William Green of Philadelphia, boss of the Democratic machine in a city which has been Republican-controlled almost ever since the Civil War, but which has been Democratic for the past five years. Green, who is the Philadelphia Democratic chairman, has had his taxes gone over with a fine tooth comb, during which the tax agents found he had failed to chalk up $1,200 from the sale of a lot.

Green stated to this column that it was an honest oversight made by his bookkeeper. Whether Brownell's boys will view it that way is something else again.

Significantly, Brownell also cracked down on one of the potent Democratic leaders of West Virginia, Homer Hanna, with an income tax indictment last week — just as West Virginia Democrats were trying to pick a successor to Senator Harley Kilgore. Hanna has picked a lot of senators in the past.

Gas Lobby

One month has now passed since Senator Lyndmon Johnson of Texas, the handsome Senate Democratic leader, lashed out at Republican Senator Case of South Dakota for impugning the integrity of the Senate. "The good name of the Senate," he proclaimed, "must be protected."

Since then various moves and countermoves, stalls and counterstalls have been made in the process of protecting the fair name of the Senate, but its name remains even less protected than on the day meek Senator Case opened wide the Senate Pandora's box of political contributions.

Gentleman From New Hampshire

Here is how the wires are being pulled and the cards played in the latest moves to sidestep, block, or push the gas-oil lobby probe.

One of the most likeable members of the Senate is Styles Bridges of New Hampshire — also one of the most astute. Coming to Washington as a young ex-governor of New Hampshire, he has now been here longer than any other Republican senator yet still looks young, still keeps his sense of humor.

Being skilled in the ways of senators, Bridges seldom gets out on the firing line. He can operate better backstage, with other senators fronting for him. He has friends on both sides of the aisle, can usually work with Democrats as well as with Republicans.

For a man of Bridges' power and prestige to step out on the firing line as a member of both Senate investigating committees, therefore, is highly unusual. It means that the investigation of gas-oil contributions is so important either to the Republican party or to Eisenhower or to Bridges himself that he is not going to trust anyone else. Instead he, the ranking Republican, stepped in and exercised his right to sit on both the George special committee probing the Case offer and the Select special committee supposed to probe the entire field of lobbying.

Strange Move

This unusual move on Bridges' part struck Capitol observers as strange at the start. As the story unfolded, however, it became more understandable.

For it eventually leaked out that Elmer Patman, lobbyist for Superior Oil, who had splashed the money around for senators in South Dakota, Iowa, and Nebraska listed expenses for two trips to New Hampshire to confer with Senator Bridges.

This came out one month after Bridges got himself appointed on the George committee and selected his personal friend, Charles Stead man, as committee counsel. It came out only after Patman's expenses, showing trips to Concord N. H., were made public, following which Senator Bridges was queried by newsmen and admitted one of the Patman visits. Patman's expense accounts showed two visits.

Bridges did not, however, volunteer this information as the Senate investigation first began, nor did he use it as an excuse either to his conscience or to his colleagues to step aside and not serve on the two committees. On the contrary, he decided that he must serve.

The conclusion seems unmistakable, therefore, that the tactic of the likeable Senator Bridges in stalling the wider investigation of the Select committee is deliberate and calculated.

Behind The Stall

What the public is entitled to know, is why the stall?

The politically wise already know that Bridges is a big money-raiser for the GOP. Thus, if the gas lobby was contributing to the general GOP campaign fund in addition to such individual states as South Dakota. Iowa, and Nebraska, the lobby would likely do it through Bridges.

On the other hand, if Elmer Patman merely wanted to consult Bridges about the timing of the gas bill he would do it by telephone, not take a long trip to New Hampshire. But if he wanted to contribute to the Republican party, he would make a special trip. Cash, which was what the Superior Oil lobby used in South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa, can't be sent easily by mail.

The Nixon Hubbub

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The acres of newsprint that are being lavished on the political future of Vice President Richard Nixon are chiefly interesting as proof of the way the figure of President Eisenhower now dominates the political scene.

The first trial heat of the Democratic nomination race is at hand in New Hampshire; and it may be much more interesting than most people have expected. The leading Democratic contender, Adlai Stevenson, has been speaking frequently; and much of what he has been saying has been worth attention. The world horizon is positively black with chickens coming home to roost; and practically every one of the chickens looks more like a vulture than a hen.

Vice President The Topic

But what is the American nation discussing? With the Republican convention nearly five months away, the main topic of political discussion is the Republican vice presidential nomination, which is normally a hasty after-thought. In part, this obviously reflects the general but publicly unfashionable suspicion that a coronary thrombosis really does not resemble a rest-cure. But even more, this vice-presidential discussion reflects the almost unanimous belief that the President, having made his great choice, is a shoo-in for re-election.

Precisely because a president who has had a heart attack is now so likely to be re-elected, his choice of a running-mate is of course important. But that does not give real significance to the "will he, won't he, will he, won't he" speculation, like nothing so much as another song by the mock turtle, that has been goin on for so long. The main facts of the situation are very plain indeed, if ordinarily reliable information can be trusted.

In the first place, the President likes and trusts Nixon, and would prefer him to any other running mate. But as Eisenhower has repeatedly said, he does not want to commit himself at this time. He will never exclude Nixon from the ranks of the potentially blessed; but he wants a free hand to bless other contenders if Nixon really begins to look like a serious handicap to the ticket.

Nixon Leads Contenders

It may be true that in order to insure having a perfectly free hand, the President offered the Vice President the Interior Department, which is now being vacated by Secretary Douglas McKay. He may even have suggested the Defense Department, which may later be vacated by Secretary Charles E. Wilson. But if the President did this, he quite certainly made his suggestion in a way that invited a rejection. Probably he wanted to end a White House argument, by putting himself in a position to say to the anti-Nixon Republicans:

"I've done everything about that problem I honorably can, and I can't and won't do anything further."

In these circumstances, in the second place, Nixon is quite plainly several laps ahead of all the other contenders for the vice presidential nomination at the present time. He has certainly been wounded by the President's failure to give him a final endorsement at this time. He is reported to reason, and reason very logically too, that he is being penalized for bearing the brunt of the political battle at the President's request and on the President's behalf.

His personal position is also extremely delicate, perhaps ever more delicate than in the doubtful period after the President was first taken ill. As these words are written, therefore, he is authoritatively reported to be considering an announcement that he too thinks the Republican vice presidential choice should be left open until convention-time.

Preferred Choice

But the dolors of Nixon's personal position do not in any way reduce his present lead in the race. He is the preferred choice of the President. He is the preferred choice of the Republican organizations in about three quarters of the states. He is the announced choice of the Republican national chairman, the astute Len Hall, who does not speak without "clearing it with Sherm."

There are only two ways, therefore, that Nixon can be beaten. One way is for a solid phalanx of opposition to form in the eastern wing of the Republican party, where anti-Nixon sentiment chiefly centers. But this way is blocked, at least for the present. There can be no anti-Nixon eastern phalanx without New York state; and Nixon is also the preferred choice of former Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

The other way to beat Nixon is for Nixon to beat himself. He may so mishandle himself as to cause the President to turn against him, or to cause the political polls to show that he really is a handicap to the ticket. But as long as Nixon handles himself as well as he has done in these last difficult months, the betting is on Nixon to win in the end.

Basilio Choice In Title Scrap

Bout With Saxton Set For Tomorrow

CHICAGO, March 12 (AP)—Challenger Johnny Saxton concedes that he can't out-slug welterweight champion Carmen Basilio but he is certain he can outbox him and regain the crown Wednesday night.

Managers of both said their fighters had reached their peak of conditioning today, each ending heavy preparations weighing the 147-pound limit.

Weighing-in ceremonies will be at 1 p.m. EST Wednesday at Chicago Stadium with the bout there starting at 10 p.m. It will be broadcast and home televised nationally (ABC).

Some 10,000 fans are expected to make a gate of $75,000. Radio-TV proceeds are $50,000. Each fighter splits the net purse 30-30.

The rugged, busy-fisted Basilio—converted southpaw—has been installed a 9-5 favorite, but there is little betting so far and no wagering on a knockout.

FRANK A. WOLFHOPE, vice president of the Cumberland Fair Association, informs us that one of the nation's outstanding starters will be in the stand to send the fields away when the 12-day racing meet opens Monday, September 10.

EDDIE BLIND

If you are a racing fan you certainly have heard of his name.

He is Eddie Blind, formerly of Canada, who has been official starter on many of the major tracks in the United States since 1947. Eddie started the races at Fairgo in 1948 when Matthias "Ty" Shea was the racing secretary but has been unable to return to Fairgo in recent years because of his contract with the major tracks.

Blind is able to make it this year because the local dates do not conflict with those of Delaware Park.

He replaces Harry Palmer, of Kew Gardens, N. Y., who has served as starter at the local half miler since 1953 when he succeeded Cecil Phillips.

IN THE STATE tourney semi-final Friday night, Valley Hgih plays the team (Arundel High of Gambrills) that beat the team (Franklin) that whipped the team (Aberdeen) that downed Bel Air's Bobcats, 72-62, in the game that decided the Harford county championship.

Bel Air, Allegany High's opponent Friday night, holds a 64-47 decision over Wicomico High of Salisbury which meets Northwestern High of Prince Georges county in the other Class "A" semi-final at College Park.

Bel Air, coached by Tom Penrod, University of Maryland grad, came into the Class "A" ranks five years ago through a school consolidation program.

SINCE state tournaments were inaugurated in 1927 in Maryland, Allegany High School has figured in 50 games, winning 47 of them.

The losses came at the hands of Hagerstown (1928) 35-31, Hagerstown (1952) 51-47 and Montgomery Blair (1953) 60-57.

THE WINNER of the Piedmont-Mountaineer High game (Area 2) Friday night at Keyser goes to Morgantown next week to battle Friday's Area 3 winner which will be either Meadow Bridge or Pax, both of Fayette county.

The state semi-final at West Virginia U. between Areas 2 and 3 is scheduled for Friday, March 23 at 1 p. m.

Pax is the school that beat Piedmont, 63-54, in the state Class "B" final in 1954. Piedmont took a 12-game winning streak into that game. The present Piedmont quint has reeled off eleven consecutive wins.

TWO SCHOOLS from nearby West Virginia have captured the state Class "B" title.

Keyser High (then a member of the W.M.I. League) won at Buckhannon in 1923, beating West Monongah by the score of 13-7. Musta been a pitchers' battle!

Jonathan Paugh's 1949 Moorefield High Yellow Jackets went all the way in 1949, whipping Oceana in the finals, 42-38.

Parsons High's Panthers captured the state "A" crown in 1934, downing Elkins in the final game, 33-30.

Jim Heise, 23, the 195-pound senior righthander, and Don O'Haver, 22, the 180-pound southpaw, won 17 games and lost five for WVU last year when Coach Steve Harrick's Southern Conference champions turned in a 20-6 record.

"Jumbo" Jim Heise and Lefty O'Haver are the same fellows that pitched Grantsville's Sluggers to the pennant in the Pen-Mar League last summer. Heise was 3-0 during the regular season and O'Haver was 7-0. Heise won two of the playoff games for the Sluggers who swept four in a row.

Heise, incidentally led the nation's college pitchers with 111 strikeouts in 106⅔ innings, appeared in 18 games and had an earned run average of 2.10. O'Haver won seven and lost one, pitched in nine games and his average was 2.12. In three seasons at WVU Jim posted a 17-8 record while Don has an 8-2 mark for two years. O'Haver's home is at Morgantown. Heise is from Scottdale, Pa.

JACK PORTNEY, former boxer, has been granted a license to promote pro fistic shows in Baltimore now that Benny Trotta has been given the heave ho.

"This is confirmation of the spelling of the ninth horse in the third race of tomorrow's Gulfstream Park entries. This is a foreign horse, and the name must be carried in his races here."

The horse's name? Hell.

Hell wasn't so hot after all. He finished third.

Allegany County Has Won Class "B" Crown Five Times

Since Maryland high schools were grouped into classes for basketball in 1947, Allegany county teams have won the state "B" title five times in nine years.

Central High of Lonaconing, coached by John Meyers, present Valley High mentor, won the state crown twice, Bruce High, of Westernport, copped two championships under Coach Augie Eichhorn and "Ebbie" Finzel's 1949 Beall High team went all the way. The other winners have been Westminster, Franklin of Baltimore county, Aberdeen and Cambridge.

Valley made its debut in the state event last year and was eliminated by Cambridge which went on to beat Oxon Hill in the finals at College Park.

Allegany County is not represented in Class "C" this year but it had its share of state champions in this division. Barton won the most "C" titles—three—and Bruce swept through all opponents twice. The other champs since 1947 have been Greenbelt, Ocean City, Perryville and Lackey of Indian Head in 1955.

Last year was the first time in nine years that Allegany county failed to win at least one of the three class championships.

Punches Tossed After Owls Win Over Holy Cross

Officials Attacked In 74 To 72 Battle

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Fred Cohen, the tall man on Temple's small but lightning-fast basketball team, hit on a field goal 10 seconds before the final buzzer to give the Owls a 74-72 victory over Holy Cross tonight and touch of a minor riot as the spectators attacked the game officials at Madison Square Garden.

The wild opening game of the two-day Eastern sectional tournament wound up in a tumultous scene after the referee disallowed a goal by tall Tommy Heinsohn of Holy Cross just as the game ended.

Officials Attacked

Spectators rushed onto the court and pushed Referee John Stevens and Umpire Vic Vi Vlasio into the aisle, tossing punches at them in the process. It was several minutes before the court was cleared enough for North Carolina State and Canisius to start warming up for the second game.

Vi Vlasio ruled that the red light over the goal had gone on while Heinsohn held the ball, but the noise was so great that no one heard the buzzer.

Holy Cross, down eight points in the second half, bounced back to tie the score at 72-72 two minutes before the game ended. Then the Crusaders tried to put on a freeze but Heinsohn lost the ball driving in for a shot. Then it was Temple's turn to freeze and the slick maneuvering Owls gave Cohen the opportunity he needed.

Two Get 52 Points

Hal Lear of Temple divided scoring honors with Heinsohn, each getting 26 points. For All-America Heinsohn that was enough to eclipse Bob Cousy's four-year Holy Cross career scoring record of 1,775 points. He finished with 1,789 in three seasons.

Bob Christenberry Quits Boxing Post In New York State

ALBANY, N. Y., March 12 (INS)—Robert K. Christenberry resigned tonight as a member of the New York State Athletic Commission and Gov. Averell Harriman sent two nominations to the Senate to fill the commission's two vacant posts.

Harriman asked the senate to confirm the appointments of Francis J. Souhan of Seneca Falls, N. Y., and James A. Farley, Jr., of New Rochelle, N. Y., to serve with commission chairman Julius Helfand.

Farley, son of the former U. S. postmaster general and New York boxing commissioner from 1925-33, was named to succed Christenberry for a term ending Jan. 1, 1957.

In his letter of resignation Christenberry said he was stepping out because a number of business enterprises demand his immediate and complete attention and involve considerable travel outside New York state.

"I remained as a member of the commission so as to follow through on the investigation already initiated exposing the dangers and evils which have beset boxing in the past," he added.

A walk, singles by Bob Cerv and Lou Skizas and a double by Woody Held gave the Yanks two runs in the second. Mantle swatted his second homer in the two days in the third and Bill Skowron doubled home the final Yank run in the fifth off Bob Keegan.

Basilio Choice In Title Scrap

Bout With Saxton Set For Tomorrow

CHICAGO, March 12 (AP)—Challenger Johnny Saxton concedes that he can't out-slug welterweight champion Carmen Basilio but he is certain he can outbox him and regain the crown Wednesday night.

Managers of both said their fighters had reached their peak of conditioning today, each ending heavy preparations weighing the 147-pound limit.

Weighing-in ceremonies will be at 1 p.m. EST Wednesday at Chicago Stadium with the bout there starting at 10 p.m. It will be broadcast and home televised nationally (ABC).

Some 10,000 fans are expected to make a gate of $75,000. Radio-TV proceeds are $50,000. Each fighter splits the net purse 30-30.

The rugged, busy-fisted Basilio—converted southpaw—has been installed a 9-5 favorite, but there is little betting so far and no wagering on a knockout.

EDDIE BLIND

If you are a racing fan you certainly have heard of his name.

He is Eddie Blind, formerly of Canada, who has been official starter on many of the major tracks in the United States since 1947. Eddie started the races at Fairgo in 1948 when Matthias "Ty" Shea was the racing secretary but has been unable to return to Fairgo in recent years because of his contract with the major tracks.

He replaces Harry Palmer, of Kew Gardens, N. Y., who has served as starter at the local half miler since 1953 when he succeeded Cecil Phillips.

IN THE STATE tourney semi-final Friday night, Valley Hgih plays the team (Arundel High of Gambrills) that beat the team (Franklin) that whipped the team (Aberdeen) that downed Bel Air's Bobcats, 72-62, in the game that decided the Harford county championship.

Bel Air, Allegany High's opponent Friday night, holds a 64-47 decision over Wicomico High of Salisbury which meets Northwestern High of Prince Georges county in the other Class "A" semi-final at College Park.

SINCE state tournaments were inaugurated in 1927 in Maryland, Allegany High School has figured in 50 games, winning 47 of them.

The losses came at the hands of Hagerstown (1928) 35-31, Hagerstown (1952) 51-47 and Montgomery Blair (1953) 60-57.

THE WINNER of the Piedmont-Mountaineer High game (Area 2) Friday night at Keyser goes to Morgantown next week to battle Friday's Area 3 winner which will be either Meadow Bridge or Pax, both of Fayette county.

The state semi-final at West Virginia U. between Areas 2 and 3 is scheduled for Friday, March 23 at 1 p. m.

Pax is the school that beat Piedmont, 63-54, in the state Class "B" final in 1954. Piedmont took a 12-game winning streak into that game. The present Piedmont quint has reeled off eleven consecutive wins.

TWO SCHOOLS from nearby West Virginia have captured the state Class "B" title.

Keyser High (then a member of the W.M.I. League) won at Buckhannon in 1923, beating West Monongah by the score of 13-7. Musta been a pitchers' battle!

Jonathan Paugh's 1949 Moorefield High Yellow Jackets went all the way in 1949, whipping Oceana in the finals, 42-38.

Jim Heise, 23, the 195-pound senior righthander, and Don O'Haver, 22, the 180-pound southpaw, won 17 games and lost five for WVU last year when Coach Steve Harrick's Southern Conference champions turned in a 20-6 record.

"Jumbo" Jim Heise and Lefty O'Haver are the same fellows that pitched Grantsville's Sluggers to the pennant in the Pen-Mar League last summer. Heise was 3-0 during the regular season and O'Haver was 7-0. Heise won two of the playoff games for the Sluggers who swept four in a row.

Heise, incidentally led the nation's college pitchers with 111 strikeouts in 106⅔ innings, appeared in 18 games and had an earned run average of 2.10. O'Haver won seven and lost one, pitched in nine games and his average was 2.12. In three seasons at WVU Jim posted a 17-8 record while Don has an 8-2 mark for two years. O'Haver's home is at Morgantown. Heise is from Scottdale, Pa.

JACK PORTNEY, former boxer, has been granted a license to promote pro fistic shows in Baltimore now that Benny Trotta has been given the heave ho.

"This is confirmation of the spelling of the ninth horse in the third race of tomorrow's Gulfstream Park entries. This is a foreign horse, and the name must be carried in his races here."

The horse's name? Hell.

Hell wasn't so hot after all. He finished third.

Allegany County Has Won Class "B" Crown Five Times

Since Maryland high schools were grouped into classes for basketball in 1947, Allegany county teams have won the state "B" title five times in nine years.

Central High of Lonaconing, coached by John Meyers, present Valley High mentor, won the state crown twice, Bruce High, of Westernport, copped two championships under Coach Augie Eichhorn and "Ebbie" Finzel's 1949 Beall High team went all the way. The other winners have been Westminster, Franklin of Baltimore county, Aberdeen and Cambridge.

Valley made its debut in the state event last year and was eliminated by Cambridge which went on to beat Oxon Hill in the finals at College Park.

Allegany County is not represented in Class "C" this year but it had its share of state champions in this division. Barton won the most "C" titles—three—and Bruce swept through all opponents twice. The other champs since 1947 have been Greenbelt, Ocean City, Perryville and Lackey of Indian Head in 1955.

Last year was the first time in nine years that Allegany county failed to win at least one of the three class championships.

Punches Tossed After Owls Win Over Holy Cross

Officials Attacked In 74 To 72 Battle

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Fred Cohen, the tall man on Temple's small but lightning-fast basketball team, hit on a field goal 10 seconds before the final buzzer to give the Owls a 74-72 victory over Holy Cross tonight and touch of a minor riot as the spectators attacked the game officials at Madison Square Garden.

The wild opening game of the two-day Eastern sectional tournament wound up in a tumultous scene after the referee disallowed a goal by tall Tommy Heinsohn of Holy Cross just as the game ended.

Officials Attacked

Spectators rushed onto the court and pushed Referee John Stevens and Umpire Vic Vi Vlasio into the aisle, tossing punches at them in the process. It was several minutes before the court was cleared enough for North Carolina State and Canisius to start warming up for the second game.

Vi Vlasio ruled that the red light over the goal had gone on while Heinsohn held the ball, but the noise was so great that no one heard the buzzer.

Holy Cross, down eight points in the second half, bounced back to tie the score at 72-72 two minutes before the game ended. Then the Crusaders tried to put on a freeze but Heinsohn lost the ball driving in for a shot. Then it was Temple's turn to freeze and the slick maneuvering Owls gave Cohen the opportunity he needed.

Two Get 52 Points

Hal Lear of Temple divided scoring honors with Heinsohn, each getting 26 points. For All-America Heinsohn that was enough to eclipse Bob Cousy's four-year Holy Cross career scoring record of 1,775 points. He finished with 1,789 in three seasons.

Bob Christenberry Quits Boxing Post In New York State

ALBANY, N. Y., March 12 (INS)—Robert K. Christenberry resigned tonight as a member of the New York State Athletic Commission and Gov. Averell Harriman sent two nominations to the Senate to fill the commission's two vacant posts.

Harriman asked the senate to confirm the appointments of Francis J. Souhan of Seneca Falls, N. Y., and James A. Farley, Jr., of New Rochelle, N. Y., to serve with commission chairman Julius Helfand.

Farley, son of the former U. S. postmaster general and New York boxing commissioner from 1925-33, was named to succed Christenberry for a term ending Jan. 1, 1957.

In his letter of resignation Christenberry said he was stepping out because a number of business enterprises demand his immediate and complete attention and involve considerable travel outside New York state.

"I remained as a member of the commission so as to follow through on the investigation already initiated exposing the dangers and evils which have beset boxing in the past," he added.

Yankees Defeat White Sox, 4-2

Ford Beats Pierce, Mantle Hits Homer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 12 (AP)—One-hit pitching by southpaw Whitey Ford and a solo home run by Mickey Mantle brought the New York Yankees a 4-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox today in the first exhibition meeting of leading contenders for the American League pennant.

Ford was the third Yank hurler to go four innings and he had the best of it over Lefty Billy Pierce, who gave up six hits and three runs while working the first three frames for the White Sox.

A walk, singles by Bob Cerv and Lou Skizas and a double by Woody Held gave the Yanks two runs in the second. Mantle swatted his second homer in the two days in the third and Bill Skowron doubled home the final Yank run in the fifth off Bob Keegan.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Al Pilarcik's lead-off fifth inning homer broke up a tie ball game and sent the Kansas City Athletics to a 7-4 win over the Boston Red Sox in an exhibition game here this afternoon.

Boston started with a two run lead on Kansas City errors in the first and added two more in the third when Wal Craddock issued three walks and Bill Consolo tripled.

Bill Herriage, A's draft choice from Montgomery, got credit for the victory. He gave up only one hit as did the Kansas City starting pitcher, Walt Craddock. Bill Harrington who finished for the Athletics, held Boston hitless for three innings.

Floyd To Play Pro Basketball

Furman Star Joins All-Stars For Tour

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP) — Darrell Floyd of Furman University, the nation's leading college basketball scorer for the last two years, forsook a possible berth on the U. S. Olympic team today by joining the professional ranks.

Floyd was named as the first member of a 1956 college all-star squad which will play the Harlem Globetrotters in a coast-to-coast tour beginning April 1 and ending April 19.

Floyd, who hails from Thomasville, N.C., scored 946 points in 28 games during the season for an average of 33.8 points per game. He led major colleges in scoring a year ago also with a 35.9 average. His three-year average is 32.1—second only to that of Frank Selvy, former Furman ace, as the highest in college annals. Selvy averaged 32.5.

Averill's Homer Sinks Cubs, 7-6

TUCSON, Ariz., March 12 (AP)—A five-run rally in the eighth inning, capped by Earl Averill's home run with two men on base, gave the Cleveland Indians a 7-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs in an exhibition game today.

It was the first victory in three starts for the Indians, who have lost two games to the New York Giants.

The Cubs executed the first triple play of the exhibition season. With two Cleveland runners on base in the second inning, a line drive was hit to Owen Friend at second base, he tossed to shortstop Richie Myers and Myers relayed to first.

Roberts, Simmons Tame Buccos, 5-1

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 12 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies trotted out their one-two pitching punch, Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons, today to turn back the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1 and earn their first victory of the spring training season.

Meanwhile, the Phillies broke out of a batting slump and pounded a trio of Pittsburgh hurlers for 11 hits. Marv Blaylock, first baseman, hammered a triple and single to send the Phils off to an early lead. Catcher Andy Seminick clinched the decision with a two run single with the bases loaded in the fifth.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 12 (INS)—One of the most sought after roles floating around town is that of Wyatt Earp's girlfriend in "Gunfight at O. K. Corral." It now belongs to red headed, green eyed Rhonda Fleming, who won it away from at least 12 other actresses. She'll have Kirk Douglas, Burt Lancaster, and John Ireland in the cast with her as well as Jo Van Fleet.

This is the first picture Rhonda has made since her return from Africa, and the name of the character she plays in the "Gunfight" epic is Laura Denbow, who had a great influence for good in the life of the hard-hitting Earp. Producer Hal Wallis is all set to go.

At the bon voyage dinner given for Grace Kelly by the Sol Siegels at the Romanoff penthouse I thought Grace seemed more like herself and less strained than at any time since the announcement of her engagement to Prince Rainier III.

She chatted with all her friends, danced with Jimmy Stewart, Frank Sinatra, Chuck Walter, her director, and other of her friends. She looked very pretty in a white short dinner down.

I had a talk with her and she tells me she's off to the east immediately after the academy presentations March 21. Again she asked if I intended to cover her wedding in Monaco.

As the time draws near, I am tempted but I fear I won't be able to do it.

As I watched Grace talking with Ursula Thiess, Robert Taylor, Mary and Jack Benny, Liz Taylor and Mike Wilding and Susan Hayward I couldn't help wondering if she won't miss Hollywood. She seems to like the people and the town so much.

Most of the actors who were in "High Society" with Grace were at the party. Margola Gilmore, Celeste Holm, and, of course, Frankie. Bing had an eye operation the day of the party and had to send his regrets.

All of Grace's MGM bosses, Dore Schary, Eddie Mannix, Benny Thau, were there to do honor to her grace. Clifton Webb, Ann Blythe, Laraine Day, Leo Durocher, Dolores Gray, Bunny and Johnny Green and some 20 others toasted our most publicized bride-to-be.

I can't remember when as many as three stars have been taken out of a Broadway hit to be put into the motion picture version. Yet that's exactly what has happened in "Tea and Sympathy."

Leif Erickson, who played the husband on the stage, is the third member of the cast to sign. Of course, Deborah Kerr and John Kerr (no relation), who played the boy, are already set.

Erickson just completed a top role with Glenn Ford on the MGM lot in "The Fastest Gun Alive," and with this in mind plus the memory of the good performance he gave on Broadway, Director Vincente Minnelli and Producer Pan Berman signed him for the picture.

Richard Widmark, his wife and two children checked in at the Disneyland Hotel over the weekend so they could take plenty of time visiting Walt Disney's wonderland.

Vivienne Segal (in private life Mrs. Hubbell Robinson) who hasn't faced a camera since 1933, proved she's still a great actress when she reported to play the countess role in "The Opposite Sex."

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

I'LL CRY TOMORROW

Millions wept unashamedly when they read Lillian Roth's frank revelations in the best-selling autobiography "I'll Cry Tomorrow." Now, in intimate detail, the story of her life is told on the screen—and it is a story of indomitable faith and courage you'll not soon forget. M-G-M has made it into a distinguished and inspiring motion picture!

Gently, almost reverently, her full red lips closed around the rim of hell! Sip by sip and slip by slip, she hit the depths!

She woke up one morning in a strange hotel room—not knowing where she'd been—or whom she'd married!

Furman Star Joins All-Stars For Tour

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP) — Darrell Floyd of Furman University, the nation's leading college basketball scorer for the last two years, forsook a possible berth on the U. S. Olympic team today by joining the professional ranks.

Floyd was named as the first member of a 1956 college all-star squad which will play the Harlem Globetrotters in a coast-to-coast tour beginning April 1 and ending April 19.

Floyd, who hails from Thomasville, N.C., scored 946 points in 28 games during the season for an average of 33.8 points per game. He led major colleges in scoring a year ago also with a 35.9 average. His three-year average is 32.1—second only to that of Frank Selvy, former Furman ace, as the highest in college annals. Selvy averaged 32.5.

Averill's Homer Sinks Cubs, 7-6

TUCSON, Ariz., March 12 (AP)—A five-run rally in the eighth inning, capped by Earl Averill's home run with two men on base, gave the Cleveland Indians a 7-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs in an exhibition game today.

It was the first victory in three starts for the Indians, who have lost two games to the New York Giants.

The Cubs executed the first triple play of the exhibition season. With two Cleveland runners on base in the second inning, a line drive was hit to Owen Friend at second base, he tossed to shortstop Richie Myers and Myers relayed to first.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 12 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies trotted out their one-two pitching punch, Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons, today to turn back the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1 and earn their first victory of the spring training season.

Meanwhile, the Phillies broke out of a batting slump and pounded a trio of Pittsburgh hurlers for 11 hits. Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 12 (INS)—One of the most sought after roles floating around town is that of Wyatt Earp's girlfriend in "Gunfight at O. K. Corral." It now belongs to red headed, green eyed Rhonda Fleming, who won it away from at least 12 other actresses. She'll have Kirk Douglas, Burt Lancaster, and John Ireland in the cast with her as well as Jo Van Fleet.

This is the first picture Rhonda has made since her return from Africa, and the name of the character she plays in the "Gunfight" epic is Laura Denbow, who had a great influence for good in the life of the hard-hitting Earp. Producer Hal Wallis is all set to go.

At the bon voyage dinner given for Grace Kelly by the Sol Siegels at the Romanoff penthouse I thought Grace seemed more like herself and less strained than at any time since the announcement of her engagement to Prince Rainier III.

She chatted with all her friends, danced with Jimmy Stewart, Frank Sinatra, Chuck Walter, her director, and other of her friends. She looked very pretty in a white short dinner down.

I had a talk with her and she tells me she's off to the east immediately after the academy presentations March 21. Again she asked if I intended to cover her wedding in Monaco.

As the time draws near, I am tempted but I fear I won't be able to do it.

As I watched Grace talking with Ursula Thiess, Robert Taylor, Mary and Jack Benny, Liz Taylor and Mike Wilding and Susan Hayward I couldn't help wondering if she won't miss Hollywood. She seems to like the people and the town so much.

Most of the actors who were in "High Society" with Grace were at the party. Margola Gilmore, Celeste Holm, and, of course, Frankie. Bing had an eye operation the day of the party and had to send his regrets.

All of Grace's MGM bosses, Dore Schary, Eddie Mannix, Benny Thau, were there to do honor to her grace. Clifton Webb, Ann Blythe, Laraine Day, Leo Durocher, Dolores Gray, Bunny and Johnny Green and some 20 others toasted our most publicized bride-to-be.

I can't remember when as many as three stars have been taken out of a Broadway hit to be put into the motion picture version. Yet that's exactly what has happened in "Tea and Sympathy."

Leif Erickson, who played the husband on the stage, is the third member of the cast to sign. Of course, Deborah Kerr and John Kerr (no relation), who played the boy, are already set.

Erickson just completed a top role with Glenn Ford on the MGM lot in "The Fastest Gun Alive," and with this in mind plus the memory of the good performance he gave on Broadway, Director Vincente Minnelli and Producer Pan Berman signed him for the picture.

A seven year contract is being drawn up for Niki Michaels — not because she's Nicholas Schenck's daughter but because she's done a real bang-up job in her tests.

Richard Widmark, his wife and two children checked in at the Disneyland Hotel over the weekend so they could take plenty of time visiting Walt Disney's wonderland.

Vivienne Segal (in private life Mrs. Hubbell Robinson) who hasn't faced a camera since 1933, proved she's still a great actress when she reported to play the countess role in "The Opposite Sex."

Cesar Romero, who hasn't been on the Broadway stage for 20 years, is being paged for "The Vintage Years," a new show.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

HE MISSED HIS CHANCE

THE OPENING lead in the following deal gave South an outstanding chance for his slam contract, but he couldn't see it.

	♠ A Q 7 ♥ K J 10 8 5 2 ♦ Q 3 ♣ J 4

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	1 ♠	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	6 ♥	(final bid)

It was reasonable enough for North to cue-bid the spade suit even though he was fibbing about that control, but having made that call, it was somewhat redundant for him to bid six hearts over South's three.

West, knowing that he could expect to have his club ace knocked out early in the play, and feeling that little was to be hoped for in the spade suit, tried the surprise attack of a diamond—maybe he could find the queen in partner's hand. Unfortunately for West, however, it was declarer who had that diamond queen and who took the trick with it after ducking in dummy. But South very soon surrendered this advantage. He drew the adverse trumps and laid down the club jack. West won and exited with the club three—and declarer ended up with a losing spade, for down one.

South did not appreciate his own good luck, as exemplified by the opening diamond lead. At Trick 2 he should have drawn trumps, cashed the diamond ace and ruffed away dummy's last diamond, and then led the four of clubs, not the jack. Presumably, West had five or six spades for his overcall, since he lacked three honors in the suit, and he had actually shown two hearts and a minimum of three diamonds. Thus, there was a substantial chance that he had exactly the ace-small of clubs, and the lead of the four-spot would exploit this chance. On that lead, if West put up the ace, he would give South three club tricks, and if he ducked the effect would be the same because South would then lead a low club to his own jack and West would be end-played—forced to return a spade up to the major tenace, or a diamond that would yield a ruff-and-discard.

Nothing's more important than a good professional cut — but if necessary, you can trim your own hair.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Expert Hair Trim By You

Search out the best hair-cutting specialist you can find and stick to a regular schedule of appointments—this must be the first step toward hair that looks perfect all the time.

But if there are occasions when a professional cut isn't possible, you can trim your own. You must follow the expert's methods, however, and use the professional type of scissors. Here's how to trim a simple, gently curling medium-short coiffure:

Then, make two vertical parts about an inch apart on one side of your head close to your face. Hold the hair straight out and comb it smooth. Pinch the strands together between your thumb and forefinger at the spot where you want the cutting to end and begin cutting about a half-inch above this point. Now, a big secret of your success lies in proceeding with the cutting in exactly this way—without even letting the scissors close completely, open and partially close the blades as you let them travel slowly toward your fingers.

Next, block off the next section of hair in one-inch squares. Pin up all but the top block. Proceed as before but start cutting about half way between your scalp and your fingers. Cut the next block longer and each following block longer than the one above it. More toward center back and then repeat every step on the other side of your head.

Finally, unpin the topknot and block the section across your forehead into half-inch, and the rest into one-inch squares. Starting a half-inch behind your fingers, cut each of the front blocks. Start the remainder closer to your scalp—how close depends on how smooth or how fluffy you want the hair on top.

Tomorrow—A colorful shape.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Expert Hair Trim By You

Search out the best hair-cutting specialist you can find and stick to a regular schedule of appointments—this must be the first step toward hair that looks perfect all the time.

But if there are occasions when a professional cut isn't possible, you can trim your own. You must follow the expert's methods, however, and use the professional type of scissors. Here's how to trim a simple, gently curling medium-short coiffure:

First, carefully block off the section of your hair that is over your brow. Pin this up into a neat topknot.

Then, make two vertical parts about an inch apart on one side of your head close to your face. Hold the hair straight out and comb it smooth. Pinch the strands together between your thumb and forefinger at the spot where you want the cutting to end and begin cutting about a half-inch above this point. Now, a big secret of your success lies in proceeding with the cutting in exactly this way—without even letting the scissors close completely, open and partially close the blades as you let them travel slowly toward your fingers.

Next, block off the next section of hair in one-inch squares. Pin up all but the top block. Proceed as before but start cutting about half way between your scalp and your fingers. Cut the next block longer and each following block longer than the one above it. More toward center back and then repeat every step on the other side of your head.

Finally, unpin the topknot and block the section across your forehead into half-inch, and the rest into one-inch squares. Starting a half-inch behind your fingers, cut each of the front blocks. Start the remainder closer to your scalp—how close depends on how smooth or how fluffy you want the hair on top.

Tomorrow—A colorful shape.

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?"—Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! Complete information on handling lines to best advantage. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 5c (in coin) and a stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

Stock Market Continues Rise To New High Ground

The rise wasn't extensive, but leaders were up 1 to around 3 points at the best. Losers were frequent but small.

The railroads, oils, and coppers were in demand today early in the session. Later they took a back seat as the radio-televisions rushed ahead and the steels moved up from a mixed to a higher position. At the same time there was marked improvement in a number of individual stocks such as General Motors up 1 at 47 and General Electric up 1½ at 63½.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.10 at $186.50. That is an historic high, the third straight record. Friday's market was up $2.00.

Both the industrial and railroad component of the average established new highs, the former was up $1.30 at $266.00 and the latter was ahead $1.10 at $142.60. Utilities gained 40 cents at $75.20.

There were more issues—1,230—traded than in any session since late last September. There were 3,110,000 issues traded, the fifth time this year that business has come to more than 3,000,000 shares.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Stock Market Continues Rise To New High Ground

The rise wasn't extensive, but leaders were up 1 to around 3 points at the best. Losers were frequent but small.

The railroads, oils, and coppers were in demand today early in the session. Later they took a back seat as the radio-televisions rushed ahead and the steels moved up from a mixed to a higher position. At the same time there was marked improvement in a number of individual stocks such as General Motors up 1 at 47 and General Electric up 1½ at 63½.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.10 at $186.50. That is an historic high, the third straight record. Friday's market was up $2.00.

Both the industrial and railroad component of the average established new highs, the former was up $1.30 at $266.00 and the latter was ahead $1.10 at $142.60. Utilities gained 40 cents at $75.20.

There were more issues—1,230—traded than in any session since late last September. There were 3,110,000 issues traded, the fifth time this year that business has come to more than 3,000,000 shares.

Meetings Set For Discussion Of Potomac

Senator Beall Announces Dates

Four meetings designed to get information relative to water resources and flood conditions on the North Branch of the Potomac River above Cumberland and Ridgeley have been scheduled next month, according to U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall.

The final arrangements for the hearings were completed by the U. S. Corps of Engineers who notified Sen. Beall and Congressmen DeWitt S. Hyde and Harley Staggers, sponsors of the plan.

The meetings will be held April 10 and 11, Sen. Beall stated and information will be sought on what might be needed in future flood or water resources projects.

The first meeting is scheduled at 1:30 p. m. April 10 at Westernport to discuss the North Branch from Wildcat Hollow above Keyser to Barnum, W. Va., including Savage River and Georges Creek.

At 7:30 p. m. the same day at Keyser the North Branch from Cumberland to Wildcat Hollow above Keyser, including New Creek, will be the area to be analyzed.

On April 11 at 10 a. m., the discussion will include the North Branch from Stony River to headwaters, including Nydegger Run and Buffalo Creek. This meeting is scheduled for Bayard, W. Va.

The final session is planned at Kitzmiller at 1:30 p. m. April 11 when the North Branch from Barnum to Stony River, including Abrams Creek and Stony River, will be appraised.

The hearings were set by the Engineers so interested parties can be informed relative to various water uses and water control measures; to express their views and state their desires for such measures; and to furnish data for use in study in furthering the plans.

Mayor Roy W. Eves cuts the cake presented to commemorate the 44th anniversary of the founding of the Girl Scouts and the celebration of Girl Scout Week March 11 through 17. Witnessing the ceremony are Bonnie Eyler, 10, of Brownie Troop 39, (left), and Sandra Roeder, 12, of Troop 25, who presented the cake to Mayor Eves, and wished him a happy birthday. "Smokey The Bear" Will Urge Forest Fire Safety

"Smokey the Bear," one of the most publicized and posterized animals of the United States in the fight against forest fires, has a busy schedule ahead of him in Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties.

William H. Johnson, district forester, said yesterday that "Smokey", actually a costumed member of his department, will make a four-county tour in April beginning in Frederick County and working his way to the two westernmost counties of the state.

In the educational program which will be sponsored by the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks, "Smokey" plans to visit the schools of the district and inform school children of the dangers of disastrous forest fires which annually destroy valuable timber and sometimes the lives of people.

Johnson pointed out that a schedule will be worked out and the bear will ride around on a truck equipped with a public address system.

"Smokey" who has become the symbol of forest fire prevention in the United States was trapped in a forest fire on El Capitan Mountain in New Mexico several years ago. A forest warden who spotted the little cub, carried him to safety and treated him for burns received from the roaring flames of the blaze.

The bear recovered from his terrifying experience and was shipped to a zoo in Washington, D. C., where he is now living. "Smokey" urges everyone to join in his campaign and observe these simple rules while in wooded areas:

Break your matches, crush your smokes, drown your campfires and be careful with every fire. So be on the lookout for "Smokey" next month when he makes his tour of the district.

Expressway Engineer To Address Optimists

William Cowan, resident engineer for Green Associates, Inc., on the design of the major section of the Cumberland Expressway, will address the Cumberland Optimist Club at its meeting tomorrow at 6:15 p. m. in Central YMCA.

His subject will be "The New Expressway," which the Baltimore consulting engineering firm will design for the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The firm recently opened a local office at 6 Harrison Street. Its contract includes plans for the expressway, from U.S. Route 40, about 800 feet east of the intersection with Willowbrook Road and Baltimore Avenue to a point west of Kelly Boulevard.

Cowan is a native of Scotland and a graduate of the University of Edinburgh. He has been in the United States for two years.

City Collects 87.7 Per Cent Of Its Levy

Spending Runs Four Points Below Par

The City of Cumberland had collected 87.7 per cent of an all-time high levy on February 29 as the eighth month of its fiscal year ended and spending was four points below par.

A report on the condition of the levy, issued yesterday tby City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson showed that $1,399,691.14 of a $1,595,630 levy had been collected February 29.

This left $198,199.98 uncollected from the amount levied, with excess collections of $2,261.12.

The condition of the tax levy was even better. Collections of $1,065,428.24 represents 94.4 per cent of the $1,128,500 levied, and leaves only $63,071.76 to collect.

During the eight month period, the various city departments spent $843,193.56, 62.44 per cent of a $1,350,296.81 appropriation. Par for the month is 66.67 per cent.

Man Injures Hand While At Work

He was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital about 1:35 p.m. and taken to surgery.

LaVale To Get 170 Tax Maps For Varied Use

Nicholson Explains Many Advantages

Residents of the LaVale area will be greatly aided by new tax maps, Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments, announced yesterday.

Nicholson has ordered from the State Tax Commission over 170 tax maps which will be turned over to the LaVale Sanitary Commission at no cost to the LaVale group.

Nicholson says the maps will be of great benefit in the task of numbering houses, erecting street signs and ascertaining the frontage of each property owner. They also will be beneficial in the event of zoning or straightening or widening streets.

These tax maps are the result of over a year's work by a draftsman and several other persons working for the State Tax Commission and are the latest maps of that area available. The last continuity map made of the LaVale area was done by Henry Schaidt in 1930, it is believed. That was before the rapid growth and expansion of that suburban area.

Misunderstanding Outlined Over Social Security Plan

A number of inquiries in the Cumberland Social Security office indicate that there is apparently some misunderstanding as to how the 1954 Amendments apply to the self-employed businessman, James E. Robertson, district manager, said yesterday.

By way of explanation, the self-employed businessman must have had net earnings of $4200 in 1955 and also 1956, to be entitled to the maximum benefit of $108.50 a month. Although claims for benefits may be filed after April 1956 for those eligible, the initial benefit computation would be based on $4200 earnings for the year 1955. The amount of earnings in 1956 would not be considered in making the initial computation. If the individual had $4200 in 1955, Robertson said, he would be entitled to an initial benefit of $85.10. At the beginning of 1957, when the self-employed person had filed his tax return for 1956, the net earnings for 1956 could then be included and the benefit refigured to include the additional earnings. The difference between this figured benefit and the initial computation would be payable for all months back to when the benefits first became effective.

Thus, a person who earned $4200 in 1955 would receive initially $85.10 per month and if he earned 4200 in 1956, the refigured benefit would be $108.50 per month, a diffrence of $23.40 per month.

Robertson urged that the self-employed businessman should take the opportunity to discuss his retirement plans with a member of the Social Security staff before placing them into effect in order to make sure that he fully understands the application of the Social Security law in his particular case.

City To Advance Funds For Next Flood Contract

Bids On Section IV Of Channel Due Soon

The Mayor and Council yesterday authorized the payment of $394,000 to the government toward the local costs of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program.

The check will take the lion's share of the $602,928.99 deposited in the flood account last week after the sale of a $600,000 flood control bond issue.

The $394,000 includes $305,000 as the city's share of Section IV of the Wills Creek Channel contract, which is to be let next month. The other $89,000 represents the balance due from the city for local work in connection with Sections II and III, which were started last fall.

The biggest local obligation on Section IV of the channel will be the construction of the Baltimore Street Bridge.

The city has asked the Corps of Engineers to let the bridge construction as part of the channel work, believing it will get a better price if only one contractor is working in the vicinity of the bridge.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, pointed out that the cost of the bridge will be reduced as much as $60,000, since the abutments will form the flood wall at that point, and the wall is a federal responsibility.

The city expects to get back an undetermined sum — estimated at up to $50,000—as the government's share of real estate acquired jointly by the city and the government.

Most of the funds remaining in the flood account will be needed for the completion of the Market Street Bridge across Wills Creek.

VA Includes County Vets In Farm Loans

Allegany County has been added to the list of areas eligible for direct loans to veterans, for farm and farmhouse purposes, according to W. L. Limburg, Baltimore regional office manager of the Veterans Administration.

Purposes indicated for loans under this provision, Limburg outlines include:

1. To purchase a farm on which there is a farm residence to be occupied by the veteran as his home;
2. To construct on land owned by the veteran a farm residence to be occupied by him as his home; or
3. To repair, alter or improve a farm residence or other dwelling owned by the veteran and occupied by him as his home.

This approval will benefit all veterans in Allegany County who may have experienced difficulty in securing either GI or conventional loans on farm property which they wish to purchase, Limburg explains. Interested veterans may apply to the Veterans Administration Office, Room 308, Post Office Building, Cumberland, Md., or to the Baltimore Regional Office, Fayette and Saint Paul Streets, Baltimore 2, Md., giving the location and type of property desired.

Veterans who have not been able to secure either GI or conventional home loans from the local lending institutions for non farm-homes should apply to the Executive Secretary, Voluntary Home Mortgage Credit Program, 1101 Vermont Avenue, N. W., Washington 25, D. C.

More Snow Keeps SRC Crews Busy

Keysers Ridge Reports Heaviest

A fresh snowstorm which began about 6 p. m. had State Roads Commission cindering crews working overtime last night in Garrett County and east of Cumberland on Town Hill and Sideling Hill Mountain.

Cumberland, which had irregular snow flurries most of the afternoon following about 2½ inches which fell yesterday morning, experienced temperatures in the low 30s most of the day with some winds. City streets were wet and slick but did not require sanding. Sidewalks became somewhat slushy during the early evening.

All highways and side roads were covered with snow again last night in Garrett County after rising temperatures there had cleared the roads of the morning snowfall by mid-afternoon.

Five inches of snow was reported at Keysers Ridge in northern Garrett County yesterday morning. East of there, Grantsville had four inches. Accident and Oakland to the south had about 3½ inches.

G. Bates Chaires, district chairman for the SRC said last night that warming temperatures and SRC crews had cleared all roads both east and west of Cumberland before the snow settled in again in the evening.

With the mercury at 27 in Oakland and 23 on Big Savage Mountain, six SRC crews were again working to clear slushy and slippery highways last night. The temperature at Frostburg, where big flakes rapidly covered the ground last night, was recorded at 28. Three SRC crews were working in the Frostburg area cindering roads.

Although State Police reported no fog on the mountains authorities cautioned motorists to travel carefully much of the night and the use of chains was again recommended.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said the early snow there stopped in the afternoon and roads were clear but wet last night. Temperatures in that area were in the middle 30s.

At Bedford Pennsylvania State Police reported intermittent snows in Bedford and Somerset counties had begun falling steadily about 5 p. m. Roads were covered and slick and police were urging motorists to use caution.

Mahoney Banner Will Fly Over Baltimore Street

The first indication of local activity in the coming elections occurred here yesterday when the Mayor and Council granted campaign forces of George P. Mahoney permission to fly a banner across Baltimore Street at Centre Street.

Tydings Opens His Campaign For U.S. Senate

Flood Control, Dam Projects Cited

BALTIMORE, March 12 (AP)—Former Sen. Millard E. Tydings opened his campaign for the Democratic nomination to his old seat tonight with an informal 15-minute television discussion of his "accomplishments" during 24 years in the Senate.

With the aid of large lettered cards visible to the television audience, Tydings listed 65 projects which he claimed to have sponsored, been co-sponsor of, or chief supporter of while a member of the U.S. Senate.

"The work of a United States senator divides itself into three parts," Tydings said. "He must give personal service to the people of his state. He must try to promote the progress and prosperity of the entire nation, and he must try to keep our position safe, sound and at peace with the world where that peace can be achieved with honor and justice."

Tydings then listed by sections of the state the projects he claimed to have worked for to "give personal service to the people of his state." They included:

Eastern Shore—Deepening and widening of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, establishment and construction of the Bainbridge Naval Training Station, development of the Ocean City inlet of oyster beds with federal funds, protection of the egg-bearing crab, legislation authorizing construction of the Susquehanna River Bridge and the Chesapeake Bay Bridge.

Central Maryland — With Rep. Fallon (D-Md) funds for construction of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway, "vast permanent improvements" to Aberdeen Proving Ground and Edgewood Arsenal, retention of Camp Holabird.

Southern Maryland—Inclusion of Maryland tobacco in reciprocal trade agreements with France and Switzerland, one million dollars for the Patuxent River Air Test Center, expansion and improvements to the Naval Academy, with former Rep. Sasscer (D-Md) raised Maryland tobacco prices for farmers under OPA "which brought 2 million dollars annually additional to tobacco farmers."

Western Maryland — Sponsored Monocacy National Park, co-sponsor of Potomac River flood control, Savage River dam, Western Maryland flood relief, new construction at Ft. Detrick, Frederick totaling $5,800,000; model ship testing basin Carderock, Montgomery County, $2,300,000; White Oak Ordnance Laboratory for Navy, Montgomery County, $1,500,000; and a new airport for Frederick.

Appeals Court Explains Home Rule Decision

Says "Exclusive" Powers Not Retained

ANNAPOLIS, March 12 (AP)—The Court of Appeals said today it upheld Annapolis' right to borrow money and raise taxes without legislative approval because the General Assembly didn't retain "exclusive" powers over the actions in granting municipal home rule.

The State's high court handed down an explanation of its decision of a month ago, which held that municipalities had such powers.

The opinion said of the home rule section in question:

"It says that the General Assembly may enact, not that only the General Assembly may enact" laws to allow cities and towns to float bonds and increase taxes to pay them off.

Specifically, the case involved Annapolis, which enacted ordinances to float $200,000 in bonds to construct two parking lots and to increase real property taxes to pay them off if revenues from the lots didn't.

Easton and Thurmont, who both wanted to float bonds for civic improvements, entered the case with Annapolis in a "friendly" test of the law by George W. Woelfel, Annapolis lawyer who challenged the city's rights to take such actions.

Easton and Thurmont had agreed to pay half the court costs with Annapolis while the Maryland municipal league paid the other half.

The unanimous opinion, written by Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune, said:

"The purpose of the provision seems to be merely to enable the General Assembly and a majority of the voters of a particular municipality who vote on the question to apply a brake to excessive taxation or excessive borrowing, if need therefore should arise.

"This, we think, is the meaning of the language of the section, and it is in harmony with the manifest general purpose of the municipal home rule amendment that municipalities shall govern themselves in local matters.

"In short, we see no reason for reading into the amendment a word which simply is not there, such as 'only' or exclusively."

Pythian Sisters Hurt In Crash

Two women, members of the Pythian Sisters, were injured last night about 8 o'clock on their way to attend a meeting of the group in Lonaconing.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital were Mrs. Josephine Biggs, 64, of Ridgeley, W. Va., and Mrs. Nellie Lucas, 57, of 437 Ascension Street. Hospital attaches said last night Mrs. Biggs suffered facial injuries and complained of her right wrist hurting her. Mrs. Lucas complained of chest pains and both were held for observation and X-rays today.

Trooper J. W. McLane of the Maryland State Police investigated the mishap which occurred shortly before 8 p. m. on Vale Summit Road.

The injured women told authorities they were riding with a group of several cars when snow flurries and wet highway conditions caused them to stop and decide all to travel in one car.

The parked automobile in which Mrs. Lucas and Mrs. Biggs had been riding was struck by another car when the driver, identified as Rev. Leslee Schwindt, vicar of St. Peter's Episcopal Church of Lonaconing, lost control as his vehicle skidded on the wet road.

Mrs. Lucas said she was thrown against the front seat of the car while Mrs. Biggs, who was standing on the highway beside the parked car, said the open door of the car struck her when the other vehicle collided with it.

No charges have been preferred pending further investigation of the mishap.

"William Tell" Rises Again

CHARLESTON, W.Va., March 12 (AP)—Reports to the State Conservation Department from officers in the field include one which has been filed as the "William Tell case."

In his February report, conservation officer Claude E. Rice of Keyser told of investigating rifle shots he at first thought might have been fired by out-of-season hunters.

Rice said he found three boys taking turns shooting tin cans from each other's heads with a .22 caliber rifle.

Allegany-Garrett Chest X-Ray Survey Opens Today

The annual Chest X-ray survey for Allegany and Garrett counties will open today at 11 a. m. on North Centre Street near Baltimore Street here.

Officials of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association, report they hope to average 500 chest X-days each day during the mobile unit's stops in Allegany County.

Mrs. Stanley Buckley, president, said the goal of 6,500 chest X-rays can be met in this county if everyone cooperates during the 13 days the unit will be here.

A goal of 1,200 X-rays has been set for the six days the unit will stop in Garrett County.

The survey is co-sponsored by the state and area TB association and the state and county health departments.

The unit will be parked on Centre Street today and tomorrow from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. It will then move to the A & P Market on Wineow Street, and be in operation Thursday from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Friday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Officials pointed out, however, that those who have known chest ailments should get their X-rays at the County Health Department, since a large picture is always recommended when the miniature film indicates any abnormality of the chest.

Officials said it is desirable that one visit the unit while it is in one's community, since the schedule in suburban areas depends upon the use citizens make of the unit.

Meetings Set For Discussion Of Potomac

Senator Beall Announces Dates

Four meetings designed to get information relative to water resources and flood conditions on the North Branch of the Potomac River above Cumberland and Ridgeley have been scheduled next month, according to U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall.

The final arrangements for the hearings were completed by the U. S. Corps of Engineers who notified Sen. Beall and Congressmen DeWitt S. Hyde and Harley Staggers, sponsors of the plan.

The meetings will be held April 10 and 11, Sen. Beall stated and information will be sought on what might be needed in future flood or water resources projects.

The first meeting is scheduled at 1:30 p. m. April 10 at Westernport to discuss the North Branch from Wildcat Hollow above Keyser to Barnum, W. Va., including Savage River and Georges Creek.

At 7:30 p. m. the same day at Keyser the North Branch from Cumberland to Wildcat Hollow above Keyser, including New Creek, will be the area to be analyzed.

On April 11 at 10 a. m., the discussion will include the North Branch from Stony River to headwaters, including Nydegger Run and Buffalo Creek. This meeting is scheduled for Bayard, W. Va.

The final session is planned at Kitzmiller at 1:30 p. m. April 11 when the North Branch from Barnum to Stony River, including Abrams Creek and Stony River, will be appraised.

The hearings were set by the Engineers so interested parties can be informed relative to various water uses and water control measures; to express their views and state their desires for such measures; and to furnish data for use in study in furthering the plans.

"Smokey The Bear" Will Urge Forest Fire Safety

"Smokey the Bear," one of the most publicized and posterized animals of the United States in the fight against forest fires, has a busy schedule ahead of him in Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties.

William H. Johnson, district forester, said yesterday that "Smokey", actually a costumed member of his department, will make a four-county tour in April beginning in Frederick County and working his way to the two westernmost counties of the state.

In the educational program which will be sponsored by the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks, "Smokey" plans to visit the schools of the district and inform school children of the dangers of disastrous forest fires which annually destroy valuable timber and sometimes the lives of people.

Johnson pointed out that a schedule will be worked out and the bear will ride around on a truck equipped with a public address system.

"Smokey" who has become the symbol of forest fire prevention in the United States was trapped in a forest fire on El Capitan Mountain in New Mexico several years ago. A forest warden who spotted the little cub, carried him to safety and treated him for burns received from the roaring flames of the blaze.

The bear recovered from his terrifying experience and was shipped to a zoo in Washington, D. C., where he is now living. "Smokey" urges everyone to join in his campaign and observe these simple rules while in wooded areas:

Break your matches, crush your smokes, drown your campfires and be careful with every fire. So be on the lookout for "Smokey" next month when he makes his tour of the district.

City Collects 87.7 Per Cent Of Its Levy

Spending Runs Four Points Below Par

The City of Cumberland had collected 87.7 per cent of an all-time high levy on February 29 as the eighth month of its fiscal year ended and spending was four points below par.

A report on the condition of the levy, issued yesterday tby City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson showed that $1,399,691.14 of a $1,595,630 levy had been collected February 29.

This left $198,199.98 uncollected from the amount levied, with excess collections of $2,261.12.

The condition of the tax levy was even better. Collections of $1,065,428.24 represents 94.4 per cent of the $1,128,500 levied, and leaves only $63,071.76 to collect.

State-shared income represents the major part of the uncollected items in the levy, and two of the Sherbow fund sources are already over.

The city's share of income tax payments, estimated $50,000, are $266.93 over, and state racing income, estimated at $48,000, is $1,131.57 over.

During the eight month period, the various city departments spent $843,193.56, 62.44 per cent of a $1,350,296.81 appropriation. Par for the month is 66.67 per cent.

Most departments appeared to be living within their income.

LaVale To Get 170 Tax Maps For Varied Use

Nicholson Explains Many Advantages

Residents of the LaVale area will be greatly aided by new tax maps, Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments, announced yesterday.

Nicholson has ordered from the State Tax Commission over 170 tax maps which will be turned over to the LaVale Sanitary Commission at no cost to the LaVale group.

These maps divide LaVale into blocks and each block shows streets, lots, lot numbers, the owner's name, deed reference, dimensions of the lot and other data. An index map shows all of the blocks, which are numbered, and each sheet shows a single block in greater detail.

Nicholson says the maps will be of great benefit in the task of numbering houses, erecting street signs and ascertaining the frontage of each property owner. They also will be beneficial in the event of zoning or straightening or widening streets.

These tax maps are the result of over a year's work by a draftsman and several other persons working for the State Tax Commission and are the latest maps of that area available. The last continuity map made of the LaVale area was done by Henry Schaidt in 1930, it is believed. That was before the rapid growth and expansion of that suburban area.

VA Includes County Vets In Farm Loans

Allegany County has been added to the list of areas eligible for direct loans to veterans, for farm and farmhouse purposes, according to W. L. Limburg, Baltimore regional office manager of the Veterans Administration.

The announcement was made here for Limburg by Benjamin W. Flack, officer in charge of the Veterans Administration office in the post office building.

Purposes indicated for loans under this provision, Limburg outlines include:

1. To purchase a farm on which there is a farm residence to be occupied by the veteran as his home;
2. To construct on land owned by the veteran a farm residence to be occupied by him as his home; or
3. To repair, alter or improve a farm residence or other dwelling owned by the veteran and occupied by him as his home.

This approval will benefit all veterans in Allegany County who may have experienced difficulty in securing either GI or conventional loans on farm property which they wish to purchase, Limburg explains. Interested veterans may apply to the Veterans Administration Office, Room 308, Post Office Building, Cumberland, Md., or to the Baltimore Regional Office, Fayette and Saint Paul Streets, Baltimore 2, Md., giving the location and type of property desired.

Veterans who have not been able to secure either GI or conventional home loans from the local lending institutions for non farm-homes should apply to the Executive Secretary, Voluntary Home Mortgage Credit Program, 1101 Vermont Avenue, N. W., Washington 25, D. C.

Pythian Sisters Hurt In Crash

Two women, members of the Pythian Sisters, were injured last night about 8 o'clock on their way to attend a meeting of the group in Lonaconing.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital were Mrs. Josephine Biggs, 64, of Ridgeley, W. Va., and Mrs. Nellie Lucas, 57, of 437 Ascension Street. Hospital attaches said last night Mrs. Biggs suffered facial injuries and complained of her right wrist hurting her. Mrs. Lucas complained of chest pains and both were held for observation and X-rays today.

Trooper J. W. McLane of the Maryland State Police investigated the mishap which occurred shortly before 8 p. m. on Vale Summit Road.

The injured women told authorities they were riding with a group of several cars when snow flurries and wet highway conditions caused them to stop and decide all to travel in one car.

The parked automobile in which Mrs. Lucas and Mrs. Biggs had been riding was struck by another car when the driver, identified as Rev. Leslee Schwindt, vicar of St. Peter's Episcopal Church of Lonaconing, lost control as his vehicle skidded on the wet road.

Mrs. Lucas said she was thrown against the front seat of the car while Mrs. Biggs, who was standing on the highway beside the parked car, said the open door of the car struck her when the other vehicle collided with it.

No charges have been preferred pending further investigation of the mishap.

Misunderstanding Outlined Over Social Security Plan

A number of inquiries in the Cumberland Social Security office indicate that there is apparently some misunderstanding as to how the 1954 Amendments apply to the self-employed businessman, James E. Robertson, district manager, said yesterday.

By way of explanation, the self-employed businessman must have had net earnings of $4200 in 1955 and also 1956, to be entitled to the maximum benefit of $108.50 a month. Although claims for benefits may be filed after April 1956 for those eligible, the initial benefit computation would be based on $4200 earnings for the year 1955. The amount of earnings in 1956 would not be considered in making the initial computation. If the individual had $4200 in 1955, Robertson said, he would be entitled to an initial benefit of $85.10. At the beginning of 1957, when the self-employed person had filed his tax return for 1956, the net earnings for 1956 could then be included and the benefit refigured to include the additional earnings. The difference between this figured benefit and the initial computation would be payable for all months back to when the benefits first became effective.

Thus, a person who earned $4200 in 1955 would receive initially $85.10 per month and if he earned 4200 in 1956, the refigured benefit would be $108.50 per month, a difference of $23.40 per month.

Robertson urged that the self-employed businessman should take the opportunity to discuss his retirement plans with a member of the Social Security staff before placing them into effect in order to make sure that he fully understands the application of the Social Security law in his particular case.

Allegany-Garrett Chest X-Ray Survey Opens Today

The annual Chest X-ray survey for Allegany and Garrett counties will open today at 11 a. m. on North Centre Street near Baltimore Street here.

Officials of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association, report they hope to average 500 chest X-days each day during the mobile unit's stops in Allegany County.

Mrs. Stanley Buckley, president, said the goal of 6,500 chest X-rays can be met in this county if everyone cooperates during the 13 days the unit will be here.

A goal of 1,200 X-rays has been set for the six days the unit will stop in Garrett County.

The survey is co-sponsored by the state and area TB association and the state and county health departments.

The unit will be parked on Centre Street today and tomorrow from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. It will then move to the A & P Market on Wineow Street, and be in operation Thursday from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Friday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

An annual chest X-ray is recommended for all who are 15 or over.

Officials pointed out, however, that those who have known chest ailments should get their X-rays at the County Health Department, since a large picture is always recommended when the miniature film indicates any abnormality of the chest.

Officials said it is desirable that one visit the unit while it is in one's community, since the schedule in suburban areas depends upon the use citizens make of the unit.
